

A new legend is born

By MIKE FLYNN

Throughout the long, eventful history of Fayette County high school football there has never been a more colorful, talked-about team than the legendary 1952 Washington C.H. Blue Lions.

But, to all the men who revel in the glory days of Washington C.H. football, and to their sons, who have grown up listening to the endless stories, a new legend has been born.

The Washington C.H. Blue Lions, undefeated and champions of the South Central Ohio League, have captured a mythical Class AA state title. The Lions, who completed the schools' first unbeaten season in just more than two decades last Friday night, were ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press' Class AA high school football poll which was released today.

The coveted No. 1 rating, which the Lions have held since Oct. 2, is the first for a Washington C.H. team and perhaps the first in 46 years of SCOL football. More importantly, the mythical championship climaxes a historical year for head coach Maurice Pfeifer's Blue Lion edition.

THE 1973 SEASON saw the classy Lions become the winningest team in Washington C.H.'s tradition-rich football history with 10 victories, eclipsing the 1952 team's effort; win the team's second undisputed league title in 18 years and the first since 1968, in addition to shattering and matching a number of other school records.

Defense was definitely the trademark of the unbeaten Washington C.H. team and the stingy defenders were primarily responsible for the incredible success. The Lions fired eight shutouts to equal a 44-year-old record turned in by the 1929 Washington C.H. team. Seven of those shutouts were consecutive as the Lions stacked up 35 straight scoreless quarters over a two-year span before Circleville scored a harmless touchdown in the eight game.

THE DEFENSIVE UNIT, led by All-Ohio prospects Garth Cox and John Sanderson, permitted a meager 19 points and forced 17 pass interceptions, a feat which tied a record set by the 1952 team.

The often-overlooked offensive team, behind All-Ohio candidate Chuck Wilson, rolled up 372 points, an average of 37.2 per game and 3,810 offensive yards. Wilson, a senior tailback, was the sparkplug by gaining 1,537 yards on 237 carries and scoring 184 points, a feat which is believed to be the top individual scoring production in Ohio this fall.

Washington C.H., with 20 seniors and "Sacrifice" as the team motto, wrapped up the season in grand style by beating Columbus Ready 21-0; Chillicothe 27-0; Portsmouth 42-0; Madison Plains 52-0; Greenfield 34-0; Wilmington 44-0; Columbus Wehrle 38-0; Circleville 20-7; Miami Trace 36-12, and Hillsboro 58-0.

Preliminary steps to follow President Nixon's guidelines concerning the nationwide energy crisis were mapped at a joint meeting between the Fayette County Board of Commissioners and section heads from all county offices Monday afternoon.

Commissioners, in addition to taking tentative action on the fuel shortage crisis in Fayette County, accepted a bid for new communications equipment for the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, awarded a construction contract for flooring work in the Courthouse and adopted a resolution agreeing to cooperate with the Ohio Department of Transportation for replacement of bridge and improvement of a county road.

The board and representatives from all county offices agreed to lower thermostats during regular working hours in the Courthouse. Charles Brown, Courthouse custodian, will check with the Dayton Power and Light

Harsha demands immediate end of U.S. oil exports to Europe

Congressman Harsha urged this action following the disclosure by the Cost of Living Council that United legislative calendar in what Sen. Henry M. Jackson has dubbed "energy week in Congress."

The emergency petroleum act directing President Nixon to ration scarce fuels, including gasoline and home heating oil, was approved by the Senate Interior Committee Monday and is expected to reach the floor on Wednesday.

The Alaska pipeline bill is expected to gain easy Senate passage today. The bill, approved by the House Monday, would allow construction of the 800-mile pipeline from Alaska's North Slope to a port in the south.

A Senate-House conference report that would result in the mandatory allocation of all fuel, from crude oil to gasoline, is expected to pass both houses some time this week.

Waiting in the wings are bills that would provide year-round daylight saving time, waive clean air guidelines to permit the burning of dirtier fuels and authorize $20 billion for the long-range development of new energy sources.

The House Commerce Committee scheduled hearings for today on a return to daylight saving time while its Senate counterpart considers a similar proposal in closed session.

Jackson said his Interior Committee hoped to take up the multibillion dollar energy research and development bill in the afternoon.

Watergate panel offer under study

President to meet probbers?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee today called for a meeting with President Nixon at his earliest convenience to question him on Watergate matters.

Sources said the vote in executive session was 5-to-1 in favor of a resolution introduced by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., to formally request the meeting and ask the President to make available all tape recordings and documents relevant to the panel's investigation.

Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., cast the only vote against the resolution, and Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., was absent, the sources said.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Monday that Nixon is considering a committee proposal for a face-to-face meeting as part of a renewed White House effort to clear up the scandal.

It was understood that Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., committee vice chairman, and Weicker would refuse presidential invitations to question Nixon at White House meetings being held for Republican senators and congressmen and some Democrats this week.

Weicker had suggested that committee members not participate in the closed-door sessions unless the President agreed to meet with the full committee.

Weicker's resolution called for a committee meeting "to be held at the President's earliest convenience, at the White House, with statements or answers to questions not having to be under oath, with counsel for both the President and the select (Watergate) committee participating, and with a complete transcript of such discussion, which entire transcript will be made immediately public."

An aide to another committee member said Weicker wrote a letter urging colleagues to adopt a position that no member of the Watergate panel should visit the President unless Nixon agrees to meet with the full committee.

Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., was also reported by a staff member to be unsatisfied with the President's announced plan to call in all Republican senators and representatives and some Democrats to give them his side of the Watergate controversy.

But meanwhile, Vice Chairman Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., and Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., received invitations to the first of the White House receptions scheduled for late today. Gurney's spokesman said the senator planned to attend; Baker's spokesman said late Monday the vice chairman had not yet replied to the invitation.

A press aide for Weicker, the only other GOP member of the committee, said the senator would not comment on the White House meetings until after the committee's executive session.

Ever since former White House counsel John W. Dean III's testimony before the committee last summer implicating the President and his top aides in the Watergate cover-up, the committee leaders have sought to obtain Nixon's version of the events.

Nixon refused to meet with the committee then, but there has been no formal response to the panel's latest invitation.

Lawyers for the committee met with White House counsel last week to discuss the possibility of a meeting, but neither side would say what the result of that meeting was. The committee reportedly would be willing to meet with the President at the White House and question him without asking that he be sworn in, but with the agreement that a record of the meeting be released.

Gulf Oil admits illegal donations to Nixon kitty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gulf Oil Corp. today pleaded guilty to making illegal contributions from corporate funds to President Nixon's 1972 campaign and the unsuccessful presidential campaigns of two Democratic congressmen.

One of Gulf's vice presidents, Claude C. Wild Jr., also pleaded guilty to a formal charge of consenting to the illegal Nixon donation of $100,000. The other illegal contributions were $15,000 to the campaign of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and $10,000 to the campaign of Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.

U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart Jr. levied on Gulf the maximum fine of $5,000 and fined Wild the maximum $1,000 for an individual. But he imposed no jail term. Wild could have received one year in prison.

Meanwhile, an American Ship Building Co. employee told the Senate Watergate committee that his superiors instructed him to make contributions to the Nixon re-election campaign with a company bonus and to lie about it when questioned by the FBI.

Matthew E. Clark Jr., purchasing director of the company's Amship's division in Loraine, Ohio, testified that he was given a $5,000 bonus by company secretary Robert E. Bartlome on April 6, 1972 and told to make out a $3,000 check and a $100 check to subsidiaries of the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

The remainder of the bonus, after payroll deductions, was to be given in cash to other political campaigns, Clark said.

He said he was told that the contributions had to be made on April 6 because a new federal campaign spending disclosure law would go into effect the next day.

Clark said he was informed later by company chairman George M. Steinbrenner III that FBI agents wanted to interview him and that he should speak first with chief counsel John H. Melcher.

Clark said Melcher told him to tell the FBI that the political contributions he made were voluntary and were made from his personal funds and after an agreement to do so between Clark and his wife.

Clark then gave a statement to the FBI saying he had discussed the campaign with fellow employees and made the contribution because he believed President Nixon had helped the shipping industry.

Clark, who receives a salary of $16,300 a year, told the committee his statement to the FBI was false and a year later he signed a certificate given him by Bartlome which also was false. He certified, Clark said, that he never had been asked by a supervisor or a director of the company to make political contributions.

In federal court on Monday, another corporation, Braniff Airways Inc. and its chairman, Harding L. Lawrence, pleaded guilty to donating $40,000 illegally to Nixon's campaign. Hart fined the corporation $5,000 and Lawrence $1,000, but imposed no prison sentence on Lawrence.

Elderly Highland Countian slain

Two men charged in grocer's death

HILLSBORO — Two Greenfield men have been charged with felony murder in connection with the shooting death of an elderly proprietor of an antique-grocery store in the small Bridges community Monday morning.

Highland County Sheriff Walter Refitt said David Bennett, 22, and Douglas Howland, 22, both of Greenfield, were charged in the slaying of Joseph C. Barrett, 76, who was robbed and shotgunned to death in the Bridges store.

Dr. Paul Terrell, Highland County corner, said Barrett was shot twice, once in the shoulder and once in the face, as he sat behind the counter of his store at about 10:30 a.m.

Both suspects are lodged in Highland County Jail, Sheriff Refitt said. No bond has been set.

Howland waived preliminary hearing in Hillsboro Municipal Court Tuesday morning and was bound over to the January term of the Highland County grand jury. Bennett asked for a continuance of his hearing in order to obtain legal counsel.

A MANHUNT followed the shooting and approximately 30 law enforcement officers from neighboring villages participated in the search.

The car driven by the two suspects was spotted at Charlie's Market at the intersection of Ohio 753 and Ohio 138 near Greenfield Monday evening. Two officers from the Greenfield Police Department chased Howland and Bennett into the nearby Kimball's Trailer Court, Carford Pike, when they fled from the auto. Howland was captured at 5:30 p.m. near the trailer court, and officers from the Highland County Sheriff's Department, Greenfield, Hillsboro, Mowrystown, Leesburg and Highland police departments continued the search for Bennett throughout the night.

Bennett finally surrendered to Sheriff Refitt at 1:35 a.m. Tuesday at Greenfield police headquarters.

HIGHLAND COUNTY sheriff's deputies said all bills were removed from the cash drawer in the counter of Barrett's Ye Olde Shoppe in Bridges, although a considerable amount of change was left behind. Barrett's wife, Lavina, estimated $100 was missing. Also missing were Barrett's wallet, thought to contain about $40, and a funeral flower fund container which had been sitting on the counter. Investigation did not disclose whether any antiques were missing.

Barrett's body was discovered by a neighbor, Mrs. Clyde Teeters, who had

Israel blocks U.N. takeover of highway

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel is refusing to turn over to the U.N. peacekeeping force full control of the highway to the town of Suez and the Egyptian 3rd Army across the Suez Canal until Egypt fixes a prisoner of war exchange, a high-ranking Israeli official reported today.

The official said Finnish U.N. soldiers set up a roadblock on the Cairo-Suez highway outside Suez Monday evening, but Israeli soldiers tore it down, and "fisticuffs took place."

"It was not very serious," he reported. Then Israeli officers allowed the Finns to set up a checkpoint on the western outskirts of Suez, the source continued, but the Israelis maintained a checkpoint of their own nearby.

The official said Israeli and U.N. troops also were maintaining separate checkpoints at Kilometer 101, where the highway crosses the cease-fire line, despite a report Monday by the Israeli state radio that Israel had turned its checkpoint over to the U.N. force.

The cease-fire agreement negotiated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger last week provided for both the prisoner exchange and U.N. control of the highway through the Israeli lines to Suez, giving Egypt access to the town and its isolated troops.

"According to the agreement signed Sunday," the Israeli official said, "the United Nations is to replace the Israeli checkpoints as soon as it is established that prisoners of war are to be exchanged. There is not yet an agreement on the prisoners so we could not agree to replacing the checkpoints."

Meanwhile, Kissinger said in Peking that the Nixon Administration is considering a formal guarantee of Israel's security if the Jewish nation agrees to a peace treaty calling for its withdrawal from occupied Arab territory. He emphasized, however, that a U.S.-Israeli treaty was only one of several forms of guarantee under consideration.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim sent his undersecretary for special political affairs, Roberto E. Gayer of Argentina, to Egypt, Syria and Israel. A U.N. spokesman said he would provide Waldheim "a first-hand assessment" of the situation, but other diplomats at U.N. headquarters said he might try to arrange for exchanges of prisoners of war.

Kissinger mentioned the possibility of a formal guarantee for Israel in a television interview Monday with ABC, CBS and NBC during a break in his talks with Chinese leaders in Peking.

Kissinger said support of Israel's existence has been "a constant American policy" and Sen. J. W. Fulbright's proposal for an Israeli-American security treaty is only one of the ideas under consideration.

The secretary explained that if peace negotiations between Israel and the Arabs succeed, "there will be a very serious problem, especially for Israel, of how its security can be assured" because of the withdrawals it will have to make from the territories it has occupied in the last two Arab-Israeli wars.

Cracks delay Skylab again

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Skylab Program Director William C. Schneider says he hopes to set a new launch date for Skylab 3 after checking on new cracks in the Saturn 1B booster rocket.

Schneider said he hopes to reach the decision late today.

The astronauts, Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson, were to fly here from the Space Center at Houston to participate in the decision-making conference.

They originally were to have started their 85-day mission last Saturday, rocketing up for the third and final visit to the Skylab station. That was postponed until Thursday after hairline cracks were discovered in all eight stabilizer fins at the base of the rocket.

These had to be replaced to prevent possible breakup of the rocket in flight.

During a check Monday, additional cracks were found in seven of eight support beams in a circular band that connects the first and second stages of the Saturn 1B.

Officials called off the shot until at least Friday, but Schneider said chances of a launch on that date "are iffy at best."

"There is a feeling by some technical experts that we could launch with these newly discovered cracks and there would be no harm to the rocket," the program director said.

He added this is being evaluated, "and by postponing we are giving ourselves at least 24 hours to examine other areas that might give us cause for concern. We'll assess and then determine if we have to delay for one day or five days or 10 days or whether we have to roll back to the assembly building."

If the Saturn 1B has to be moved back to the hangar for major repairs or replacement, the delay could be a month or more.

Last ditch effort starts on campaign financing bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Another committee meeting has been scheduled Wednesday in what shapes up as a last ditch effort for enactment of a new campaign finance law by the current special legislative session.

Rep. Michael Del Bane, D-56 Hubbard, called the six-member conference committee session Monday after a meeting of Gov. John J. Gilligan and leaders of the Ohio AFL-CIO.

Del Bane said majority House Democrats are prepared to offer a compromise to counter one made last week by Republican members of the Senate-House committee.

"We now have our proposal and they have theirs. We're going to get together to try to come up with a bill," the chairman said.

Del Bane said Democrats are ready to go part way on a GOP demand to

Nixon pushes innocence drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is pressing his Watergate offensive by meeting privately with congressmen and disclosing plans to turn over to a federal judge presidential tape recordings and files.

At the same time, officials say White House lawyers are gathering material to answer "case by case, head to head" other non-Watergate allegations against Nixon and his administration. These range from Nixon's personal finances to the handling of campaign contributions.

Nixon opened his campaign Monday, saying it would "clear up ... once and for all" questions about the controversial Watergate tapes.

Developments concerning subpoenaed White House tape recordings came both from federal court and Nixon Monday, on a day in which he held the first of a series of meetings scheduled with all Republican members of Congress and some Democratic leaders.

Chou, Kissinger continue meets

PEKING (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai told American newsmen today that he won't visit the United States until Washington breaks relations with the Nationalist regime on Taiwan.

"As long as there is a representative of the Chiang Kaishek clique there, how can I go there?" said China's No. 2 man as he waited for his fourth meeting in as many days with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Chou also refused to predict when Washington might break with President Chiang's government, saying, "How can you ask me? Why don't you put the question to Dr. Kissinger?"

But the premier told the newsmen President Nixon is welcome to make a second trip to China.

Kissinger met for nearly three hours with Chairman Mao Tse-tung at his home in the Forbidden City, and Chou said today that Mao spoke in English when he asked the secretary of state to convey his regards to Nixon.

Chou said it was the longest meeting Mao has had with a foreign visitor in two years. A joint Chinese-American announcement said they discussed "a wide range of subjects in a friendly atmosphere." State Department recess are measures approved Monday by the House interior subcommittee on the environment that would regulate the surface mining of coal and license deep water ports to accommodate supertankers.

Energy policy

In the Senate, an Interior subcommittee scheduled hearings on a bill that would authorize a federal takeover of off-shore wells in California's Santa Barbara Channel, where drilling has been suspended since a massive oil spill in 1969.

Administrator Russell Train of the Environmental Protection Agency gave his support to a proposal authorizing temporary suspension of clean air standards for individual power plants and factories.

Meanwhile, an executive of an American firm handling oil in Saudi Arabia, was quoted as saying the effect of the Arab oil boycott will be felt within weeks. M.M. Ameen, vice president of Aramco, was quoted as having told the House Republican Task Force on Energy that the effect of the boycott cannot be avoided.

Of all the measures triggered by the President's televised address last week, the one with the most immediate impact on people's lives would be the emergency petroleum act authorized by Jackson.

In addition to rationing, the bill would authorize the President to order such energy-saving steps as lower speed limits and shorter school hours in an effort to reduce by 25 per cent the nation's current consumption of roughly 18 million barrels of oil a day.

place restrictions on campaign spending by labor unions, since Republicans said they would do likewise with regard to big business interests who normally give a lot of help to their campaigns.

However, a Republican demand that union restrictions also include letting individual union members earmark their contributions remains the central if not the non-negotiable issue.

Democrats, at the insistence of their traditional labor backers, want to continue the present practice of letting union political action committees decide how to spend the contributions.

With that background, the committee will come together at 10 a.m. Wednesday for a session that could determine whether the special session will get a bill or will put off the issue until the next regular session of the General Assembly starting Jan. 2.

Nixon held two sessions Monday — a breakfast with the Republican Coordinating Committee and an evening meeting with five conservative southern Democrats and an independent. Another evening meeting was arranged for today, for Republican House members.

Nixon also announced Monday he would produce unsubpoenaed tape recordings as well as subpoenaed portions of his personal diary. He said this was an attempt to dispel doubts about "just what happened" to a pair of unrecorded Watergate conversations.

At the same time he said he could not locate a dictation machine recording of an April 15 meeting with former White House counsel John W. Dean III. A tape recording of the meeting has been subpoenaed but the White House says that recording is one of two subpoenaed but never made.

In federal court, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica set Nov. 20 as the date by which Nixon's lawyers must deliver the spokesman Robert J. McCloskey refused to elaborate.

Kissinger arrived an hour and a half late for his meeting with Chou today. There was speculation that he had been working on the communique that he and his hosts are expected to issue before he takes off for Japan Wednesday morning.

The secretary of state, who is the grandson of a German farmer, started the day with a visit to a model commune seven miles from Peking where he watched the forced feeding of ducks and kibitzed with oldtimers playing Chinese chess.

Kissinger, accompanied by foreign minister Chi Peng-fei, spent more than an hour examining the showplace of Mao Tse-tung's agrarian revolution. They saw an experiment involving the streamlining of a duck's life to 65 days, an oldage home for childless workers in their 70s and 80s who otherwise would have to fend for themselves and the rough but clean quarters of a three-generation farm family.

Formed in 1958, the commune has a population of 39,000 and produces more than 80 varieties of vegetables. There are six factories on the grounds making farm implements and taking care of repairs.

Farmers need fuel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite America's energy crisis, farmers may need at least 4 per cent more fuel next year as they try hiking production to meet demands for food, Agriculture Department officials have told Congress.

Department officials Glenn Weir and Nick Smith told the House Agriculture Committee Monday that acreage to be planted in crops next year could be 12 million acres over this year's figures — suggesting a 1974 fuel requirement boost of at least 4 per cent.

Weir said the department is launching "an all-out effort to assure that agricultural production is not impaired because of lack of fuel at a time when we are urging our farmers to increase their production to meet market demands."

The Agriculture Department officials testified that current supplies of gasoline, diesel fuel and propane for farm use are generally adequate for the rest of 1973, with a few localized exceptions.

But Weir said agricultural interests are "going to have to fight for all the fuel they get" in the future.

Canadian oil to keep flowing

TORONTO (AP) — Surplus Canadian oil will still be exported and Canada will not stop oil shipments to the United States to appease Arab states, foreign Secretary Mitchell Sharp said Monday.

In an interview following a Canadian Club luncheon, Sharp said he told George Ball, former U.S. undersecretary of state, that Canada would not appease the Arabs by cutting off southbound shipments.

In a speech at the luncheon, Ball said that if Canada halted oil exports to his country, the United States might cut off Canadian supplies flowing through its territory — for example, at the Portland, Maine, terminal of the pipeline that supplies crude oil to Montreal.

Ball said official statements indicated Canada might be bowing to Arab threats in order to appear neutral and ensure its own continued supply of oil from the Middle East.

subpoenaed and volunteered White House tapes and other materials. Sirica also told lawyers to be ready to take steps to empanel a group of experts to report on questions "relating to any evidence of tampering or alteration of the White House tapes.

Nixon has agreed that outside experts should examine the tapes for evidence of alteration.

He also said that in lieu of the dictation machine recording he would give to the court "my original hand-written notes" made April 15 during the meeting with Dean.

Dean has told the Senate Watergate committee that Nixon during the meeting admitted discussing executive clemency as part of the Watergate coverup.

The non-Watergate related matters that Nixon said he would confront included the ITT antitrust settlement, campaign contributions by milk producers and Nixon's personal financial dealings.

In other Watergate developments Monday:

—A House Judiciary subcommittee approved a bill calling for appointment of a special Watergate prosecutor by the federal court. Nixon has replaced the fired Archibald Cox with Texas lawyer Leon Jaworski.

—Vice President-designate Gerald Ford said in a New York speech that Nixon is innocent of wrongdoing in Watergate and will prove his innocence. He said Nixon will not resign.

—Also in New York, Cox told the New York City Bar Association he was denied files on a campaign contribution from the milk industry. He also said Nixon told him "'Keep the hell out of that,'" while Cox was investigating the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

—In Los Angeles, a lawyer for Egil Krogh Jr., the man who headed the White House "plumbers" said Krogh wants access to files he kept at the White House even if he has to subpoena Nixon to get them. Krogh is charged in the Ellsberg break-in.

State School board seeks fuel priority

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state Board of Education has urged state and federal officials to give schools top priority in any fuel rationing or allocation.

And the board, meeting here Monday, called on Dr. Martin W. Essex, Ohio's superintendent of education, to cooperate with government agencies "in the formulation of policy regarding energy usage by schools."

The board said for its part, it will use "any authority which it has in securing full cooperation of all the schools of Ohio to share in meeting the demands of any crisis in concert with action involving all other sectors of the economy."

The board spent much of the meeting on energy problems, but on other matters:

—Honored Ebraska D. Watts, a teacher at Chamber Elementary School in East Cleveland, as Ohio's Teacher of the Year for 1974.

—Agreed to fund 545 new special education classes, bringing to 7,389 the number of such classes available to young people in Ohio.

—Accepted two work-study grants, one of $7,088 for schools in Lancaster, the other of $9,450 for schools in Akron.

The federal money will help provide in-school employment for disadvantaged young people.

—Okayed the transfer of 18 acres of land from the Greenhills-Forest Park City School District in Hamilton County to the Wyoming City School District.

The board, dealing with the energy crisis, adopted guidelines for Ohio's public schools to follow in conserving energy.

The board said the guidelines, drafted by the Ohio Department of Education, are designed to offer "practical suggestions on reducing energy consumption through more efficient use of heating, lighting and pupil transportation."

Stock list down again

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices continued to move lower today, extending the losses of the last two sessions, which analysts said had resulted from energy fears.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial, down more than 34 points in Friday and Monday trading, was off 10.53 at 887.12 at noon.

Declining issues led advances more than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was active, and the ticker tape lagged behind several times during the morning.

The Big Board's composite index of some 1,500 common stocks gave up .27 to 55.69 at noon.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index dropped .53 at 102.61 at noon.

"There's a feeling that we're getting past the hysteria, but the energy shortage is still a cloud over the market," said Charles M. Lewis of Winkler, Cantor, Pomboy & Co.

Analysts noted that the market looked better across the board today than it had in the last two sessions and that there was some buying in certain depressed glammers.

A clearing trend with southwesterly winds is expected to allow temperatures to climb into the 60s in Ohio Tuesday afternoon, but some showers will develop along and ahead of an oncoming cold front which will move across the state Wednesday.

The morning weather map showed high pressure centered over the North Carolina coast. It is beginning to settle slowly southward. A low pressure system and associated cold front was entering the western parts of the Dakotas and Nebraska. This cold front will move rapidly eastward and reach the western Great Lakes area Wednesday morning.

Temperatures early Tuesday were in the low 50s in the southeast and parts of eastern Ohio and in the 40s over the rest of the state.

There will be a chance of rain in Ohio Thursday and Friday followed by generally cloudy skies on Saturday. A cooling trend during the period will see highs in the 50s and 60s Thursday falling off to the 40s by Saturday. Lows Thursday in the 40s will drop to the 30s by Saturday.

Northwest takes brunt of weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Strong winds and thundershowers fanned out over the northwestern quarter of the nation today while most other areas enjoyed Indian summer.

Winds gusting over 50 miles per hour whipped Utah, Wyoming and northern Colorado, and high-wind warnings were issued for northern Colorado and the western half of South Dakota for today.

Showers dampened areas from the Pacific Coast to the northern Plains, but rainfall amounts generally were less than half an inch overnight.

Gale warnings were posted along the northern Pacific Coast as a new storm system approached.

A cold front moving through Wyoming and Colorado dropped temperatures into the 30s and 40s for the 50s.

Overnight lows in the 40s and 50s were common across a broad stretch of the midcontinent after highs in the 50s and 60s Monday.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 30 at Minot, N.D., to 73 at Miami.

Harris Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — The latest Louis Harris poll gives President Nixon a 58 per cent rating for good to excellent performance in working for world peace but only a 32 per cent positive rating for the over-all job he is doing as President.

Israeli generals in verbal battle

TEL AVIV (AP) — The guns are silent along the Suez Canal and the Golan Heights, but Israel's army is convulsed by an overdose of political recriminations brought on by the initial setbacks of the October war.

Until the war, army censorship did not allow any newspaper to quote a soldier — general as well as corporal — on his political views. But this policy has faltered in the welter of ac-

Map plans for energy conservation

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Cincinnati, which has instituted a number of energy saving measures, plans to ask the federal Environmental Protection Agency to back off on strong anti-pollution measures.

City Manager E. Robert Turner suggested to city council that an application be made to the EPA to delay for a year an order requiring mandatory inspections of all cars to comply with emission standards.

The EPA said Cincinnati must reduce its hydrocarbons emitted by cars by 43.1 per cent. The emissions are blamed for pollution here.

The regulations become effective July 1, 1975.

Turner said the delay would reduce the emissions because more cars will have anti-pollution equipment by 1976.

Other area facilities Monday announced energy conservation programs.

University of Cincinnati officials said heat and lighting will be reduced at the campus to conserve energy and expenses.

In addition, they said the school's computer is developing a car pool system for the estimated 15,000 students who live off campus.

The university also will abandon plans to bolster its coal heating system with oil, the official said.

In Middletown, Ohio, school officials urged students to ride buses instead of driving, teachers to form car pools and ordered no windows opened as heating is cut.

Franklin and Lebanon, Ohio, are scrapping plans for outdoor Christmas lighting.

Four major downtown Cincinnati department stores abandoned plans for normal exterior Christmas displays spokesmen said. They said they said they also planned to turn down thermostats inside the stores.

Kathleen Kennedy to be married

WASHINGTON (AP) — The eldest daughter of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is getting married Saturday.

Kathleen Kennedy, 22, and David Lee Townsend, 25, will be wed at Holy Trinity Church here. A reception follows the ceremony at the Kennedy family's home in McLean, Va.

The bride-to-be is a senior at Radcliffe College. Her future husband is working on an American history doctorate at Harvard. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Raymond Townsend of Timonium, Md.

cusations over who was to blame for the surprise achieved by the Egyptian and Syrian attack and the Arabs' initial success.

The battle of words could affect the outcome of the national elections at the end of December.

The key figures in the battle of words have been Maj. Gen. Ariel Sharon, who led the daring Israeli thrust across the Suez Canal to encircle the Egyptian 3rd Army; Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-lev, the assistant chief of staff who gave his name to the canal defense line that the Egyptians overran, and the chief of staff, Lt. Gen. David Elazar, who has been trying to hold the line for Premier Golda Meir's government.

Sharon in peacetime is a right-wing politician, and his exploit on the battlefield indicated he might take some votes away from Mrs. Meir's socialist Labor party in the election. Then he told an American newsman his superiors had not sent adequate reinforcements to bolster the spearhead he put across the canal.

Elazar angrily retorted: "It may be less glamorous to fight to hold a bridgehead than to drive your tanks into Africa."

Bar-lev, a cabinet minister and supporter of Mrs. Meir who was returned to uniform for the war, was the next to join the fray. Possibly nettled by the comparison between the Barlev Line and France's useless Maginot Line in World War II, he wrote in a local newspaper that the army was totally unready for the war and that there was insufficient armor and artillery behind the canal line.

This was considered an oblique attack on Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, whose political views Bar-lev is known to oppose, as well as a defense of the Bar-lev Line.

Lakewood safest city in nation?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Lakewood Police Chief Charles Petro says it took teamwork to bring the suburb a top rating as perhaps the safest city in the nation.

And Petro includes on the "team" a cooperative citizenry as well as a "good, hard working department."

Lakewood was at the top, and another Cleveland suburb, Euclid, was sixth on the safest cities list put out by David Franke, author of "Safe Places." Franke prepared the list on the basis of crime statistics fed into a computer. The results were released Monday by Esquire magazine.

"We have the type of citizen who helps the police... who is not prone to crime," Petro said.

The chief said the police auxiliary also helped curb crime.

While agreeing that "we have a safe place to live...and a good, hard-working department," Petro said Franke's list may not be quite up to date.

"I believe he was using 1971 statistics," Petro said, adding that the 1972 figures might show that Euclid had edged ahead of Lakewood.

However, he said he appreciates "the fact that people say we're No. 1."

Witches' wedding smashing success - bonfire and all

LODI, Ohio (AP) — It was a devilish undertaking, but the wedding came off on schedule — bonfire and all.

And the bride-to-be, 40-year-old Betty Haase, said there wasn't as much significance to the witches' wedding as met the eye.

"It runs in the family," she said, dismissing her supernatural powers. "But you better go easy on that," she cautioned. "Some of the family frowns on it."

While guests huddled around a bonfire later, she and her groom, Dennis Skitzki, were married. The ceremony was performed by a Unitarian minister, the Rev. David H. Cole.

"For some reason, Unitarian ministers are the only ones who don't mind," Mrs. Skitzki said, puzzled. "After all, we believe in God and everything, or at least in a supreme being."

The main difference between witches and other people has more to do with believing in reincarnation and the ability to "see" things than anything else, she said.

Mrs. Skitzki said her first husband was a warlock — the male counterpart of a witch. Skitzki, on the other hand, is only an automobile mechanic.

But "he's very sexy," Mrs. Skitzki confided.

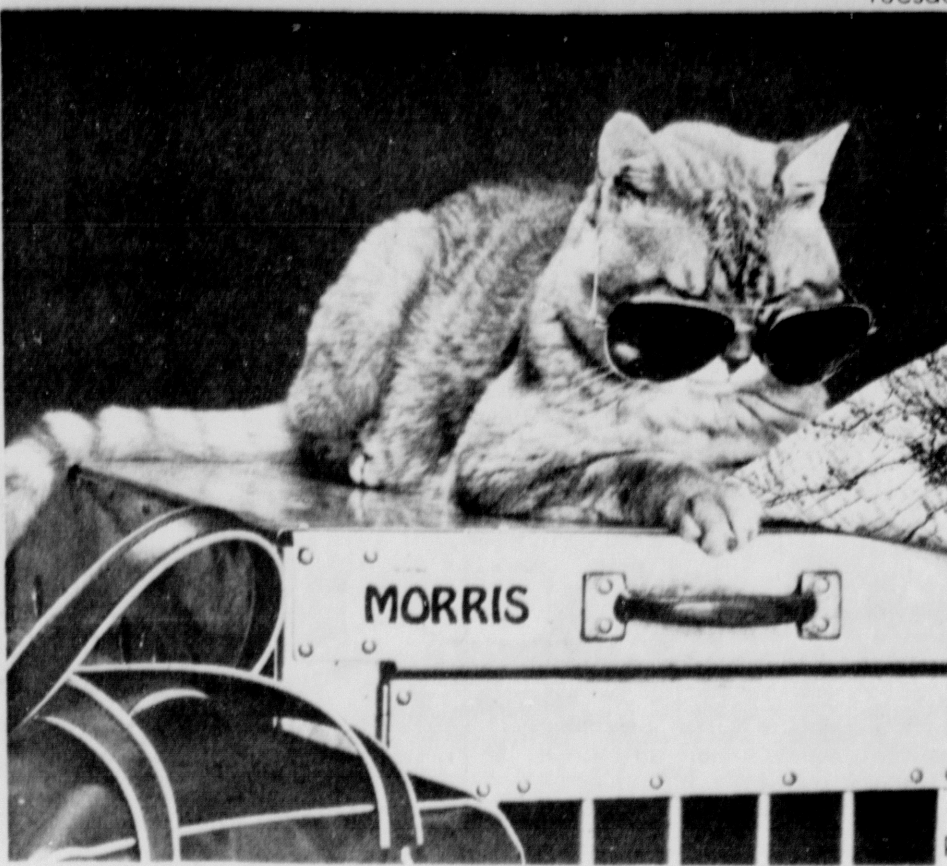

The bride made shirts for the groom and the minister to wear. And she wore a dress of her own making — green wool, with lace embroidery.

"No, there's no significance in that either," she said. "I just wanted to dress up."

After the ceremony, the Skitzkis and their guests gathered around a huge whiskey crock.

"There's no significance at all in that, unless you don't like whiskey sours," she told a reporter covering the event.

"And tell your photographer we won't put a curse on him when he gets here, and he can have all the whiskey sours he wants."

Annual Teen Talent Show scheduled for mid-April

The annual Teen Talent Show, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club here, will be held April 19.

The date was set at the club's monthly board meeting Monday night following dinner in Lafayette Inn, but the selection of the place and other details were left to be worked out later.

The annual Christmas party will be held Dec. 17 in the First Presbyterian Church, the board announced.

The "Share the Treats" committee reported that excess Halloween treats, which the children who receive them had left at the schools to be shared with others, were distributed by Kiwanians to 12 families (with a total of 66 children), to six nursing homes and to children at the Orient State Hospital.

After Gary Smith explained the changes in the by-laws, the club voted acceptance. A $25 contribution to CROP also was authorized.

The meeting was conducted by President George Gibbs, and since it was devoted to Kiwanis business, there was no program and no guests.

Major wheat supplier

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States continues to be the largest foreign supplier of wheat to the Peoples Republic of China this fiscal year, despite recent large sales by Australia and Canada, the Agriculture Department said today.

Dairy Federation loses bid to halt butter importation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of dairy farmers has been stalled in a move to prevent the Nixon administration from opening the door to more imported milk products.

The National Milk Producers Federation had sought a temporary restraining order to prevent importation of 56 million pounds of butter and 22.6 million pounds of butter substitutes.

On Monday, however, Judge John L. Smith of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia dismissed the petition without comment.

The boost in butter imports was announced Oct. 31 by President Nixon as an effort to help replenish declining U.S. dairy supplies.

The federation also had asked the court to approve countervailing imports tariffs on the butter to offset export subsidies paid by the European Economic Community.

Federation officials said the subsidies amounted to 29 to 39 cents per pound and the United States should require similar import charges in the absence of a total ban.

With the court's dismissal, however, the way was cleared for all the imports to come into the country. The federation said, in fact, about 17 million pounds of the European quota had been delivered by Nov. 7.

Further, the federation said, the entire new quota of 28.5 million pounds of butter from New Zealand — which does not subsidize exports — had been received by U.S. importers.

For many years, the annual butter import quotas has been 700,000 pounds.

HAUNTED WITH MONEY PROBLEMS?

Yes, Halloween is over, but you may be convinced that some hobgoblin is haunting your budget. Your money just keeps vanishing! Budget ghosts are just as hard to pin down as the Halloween variety but watch for these clues — bills that can't be paid when they come due, using credit each month to stretch your pay.

To solve the mystery, sit down with paper, pencil, the checkbook, a calendar, and any other records of receipts you may have. Try to account for as much of the last pay check as you can. Next, try your hand at a whole year — that time span takes in most of the special expenses you meet during the year. In this process, perhaps some ghosts will dissolve and turn out to be investments in family well being.

The thing that may tell the tale is the amount of money that's unaccounted for. If a family treats all money that doesn't go for bills as leftover spendable money, important things can be forgotten. Items like insurance, medical emergencies, new cars, or even Christmas can hit a family budget hard.

If you think too much money is slipping through the cracks, try closing the cracks for awhile. Set aside each month a certain amount of cash for everyday needs. Put the rest of the money in a safe place — like the bank. With the money out of sight, you won't feel richer than you really are!

Your pencil-and-paper work may show you the presence of other ghosts in your budget. Perhaps your family really is spending too much for food or housing or transportation in relation to family needs. Looking at actual expenses may reveal what spending really is out of proportion to income and needs.

Your detective work with records may solve the mystery of where the money goes. The next step to get rid of budget ghosts is to face reality — think through your family's needs and goals and set priorities.

To help you work out a record plan that fits your family spending be sure to ask for free leaflets from our office. Available are "Managing Your Money", "Money In Your Life", "Consumer Credit" and "Planning Family Spending". Call 335-1150 or drop a note to our office at 319 South Fayette Street, Washington C.H.

TOO MANY BILLS AND NOT ENOUGH MONEY?

We're going to give you some positive suggestions to help you start living without your financial goals. Do join us this Wednesday, November 14 from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Extension Office Auditorium.

SAVE ENERGY — SAVE MONEY

Cooler fall weather increases our interest in the energy crisis. We'll all need to do our part to conserve all types of energy this year. One way to conserve energy — and save money, too! — is by preventing heat loss from our house.

Quite often, we waste or lose heat from a house without even realizing it. For example, if the fireplace damper is left open when the fireplace is not in use, much precious furnace heat goes up the chimney. If your fireplace has no damper, install one or you might install glass doors on the fireplace to cut heat loss.

Three other areas of the house have flues or vent pipes to the outside — the kitchen, bathroom, and laundry. These vents should have dampers that open when the fan is operating and close when it stops. If there is no damper or it becomes stuck open, much cold air can enter the house.

Another way to reduce heat loss is to give some special attention to windows. Windows make up a good-sized area of the exterior walls. Air leakage can occur around the frame and the sash. And a single layer of glass offers very little insulation to restrict heat flow; Caulk cracks around the frame, weatherstrip the loose sash, add storm windows and doors — and you'll cut energy use about 12 per cent in heating a one-story-house.

If you can't afford to place storm sash on all windows, put them on the side that gets most of the winter wind. Put them on rooms used for living and working, rather than bedrooms. You don't have to put storm sash on all windows at one time to get some benefits in reduced fuel costs and a more comfortable house.

Many homes are not adequately insulated in the attic area. There can be considerable heat loss from the living area of the house, through the ceiling, and into the attic. By adding 6 inches of insulation to an uninsulated attic floor in a one-story house, you will save about 20 per cent on your fuel bill. If you can't or don't want to insulate the attic floor, place insulation between the wall studs and the roof rafters — you'll save almost as much fuel.

To keep the heat in this winter, keep dampers closed when not in use, add storm windows and doors, and insulate the attic. You'll save energy and money.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 14

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Watch finances now, but don't become too anxious over them. Just make up your mind to pursue a conservative and realistic course, and you should come out all right.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Personal relationships are now governed by exceptionally good influences. A fine day for holding conferences, meeting with others to negotiate plans for the common good.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Let some matters "rest" while you reorganize thoughts, plans, new methods of approach. A day of mixed influences — one which calls for astuteness, keen judgment.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Lunar influences excellent. You should be in zesty mood and well able to produce your best. Organize assistance to put a new idea over the top.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Stress your first-rate initiative and all-around capability now. Pay no heed to interfering persons. Consider the production of that top effort a challenge.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Look deep into all situations. Surface appearances could be misleading. Take time to think things out, to absorb details.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Tact, as well as your innate sense of balance, will be important now. Set the tempo best suited to YOUR interests and do not permit others to disrupt it.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You may discern a hint of things to come where your personal ambitions are concerned. Accept advice and support from interested friends.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Look searchingly for answers to problems in which you may have become involved. Don't shut your eyes to them. A bright outlook is yours for the seeing.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Curb a tendency to be overly critical. Don't look for flaws in every issue that arises. Emphasize tolerance and optimism.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

You may receive helpful backing in a business venture from persons you were not counting on. Gains also indicated through correspondence.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Strong auspicious influences should lend fresh vigor and zest to your activities. Capitalize on your inventiveness.

YOU BORN TODAY are governed by a zodiacal Sign of strength, purpose, versatility, mental and physical vitality. You like people, travel for adventure and stimulating enterprises. Using your talents to their fullest, you could succeed in almost any field of your choice but, if undeveloped and indifferent to responsibility, you could easily become a "playboy" or, at best, a dilettante with little accomplishment to your credit. On the higher plane, you could look forward to success in any of the following fields: science, business management, music, literature, the law or invention.

Set districts for welfare

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Welfare Director Charles Bates said Monday night that his agency will be ready to reorganize into 11 districts by next July 1.

Bates told the opening session of the Ohio Welfare Conference here that the department will have guidelines for its reorganization ready by spring.

The Welfare Department and three other state agencies are to reorganize into 11 service districts by mid-1974 under a plan announced earlier by Gov. John Gilligan.

Cleveland, which has the highest welfare case load in the state, will probably be divided in half, Bates said.

Other departments involved in the reorganization plan are the Department of Mental Health and Retardation, the Department of Health, and the Rehabilitation Services Commission.

Money Does Matter . . .

By David C. Six

You'll Most Likely

Get Just What

You Really Want!

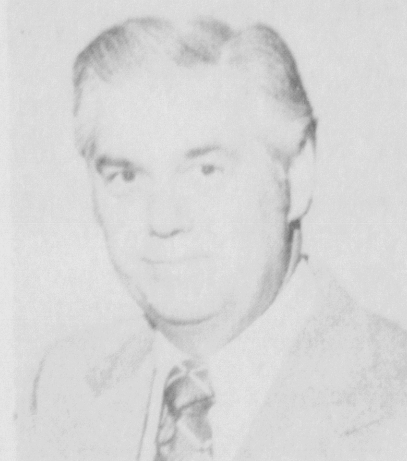

Don't let the term "Commercial Bank" confuse you!

There was a time when commercial bankers only loaned money to business men. They still do, but they are now very much in the personal loan business, among other things.

Some banks would do much more business in small personal loans if some people were not still somewhat apprehensive about their welcome in a bank when only a small personal loan was needed.

Believe me, do not be concerned! If you have a steady source of income and a good credit record, your likelihood of getting what you want is excellent.

Banks today are making 9 out of 10 loans requested — and often at much lower cost than available anywhere else!

Congratulations to the Washington Court House and Miami Trace Bands and Choirs for their excellent joint half time show at the inter-county football game.

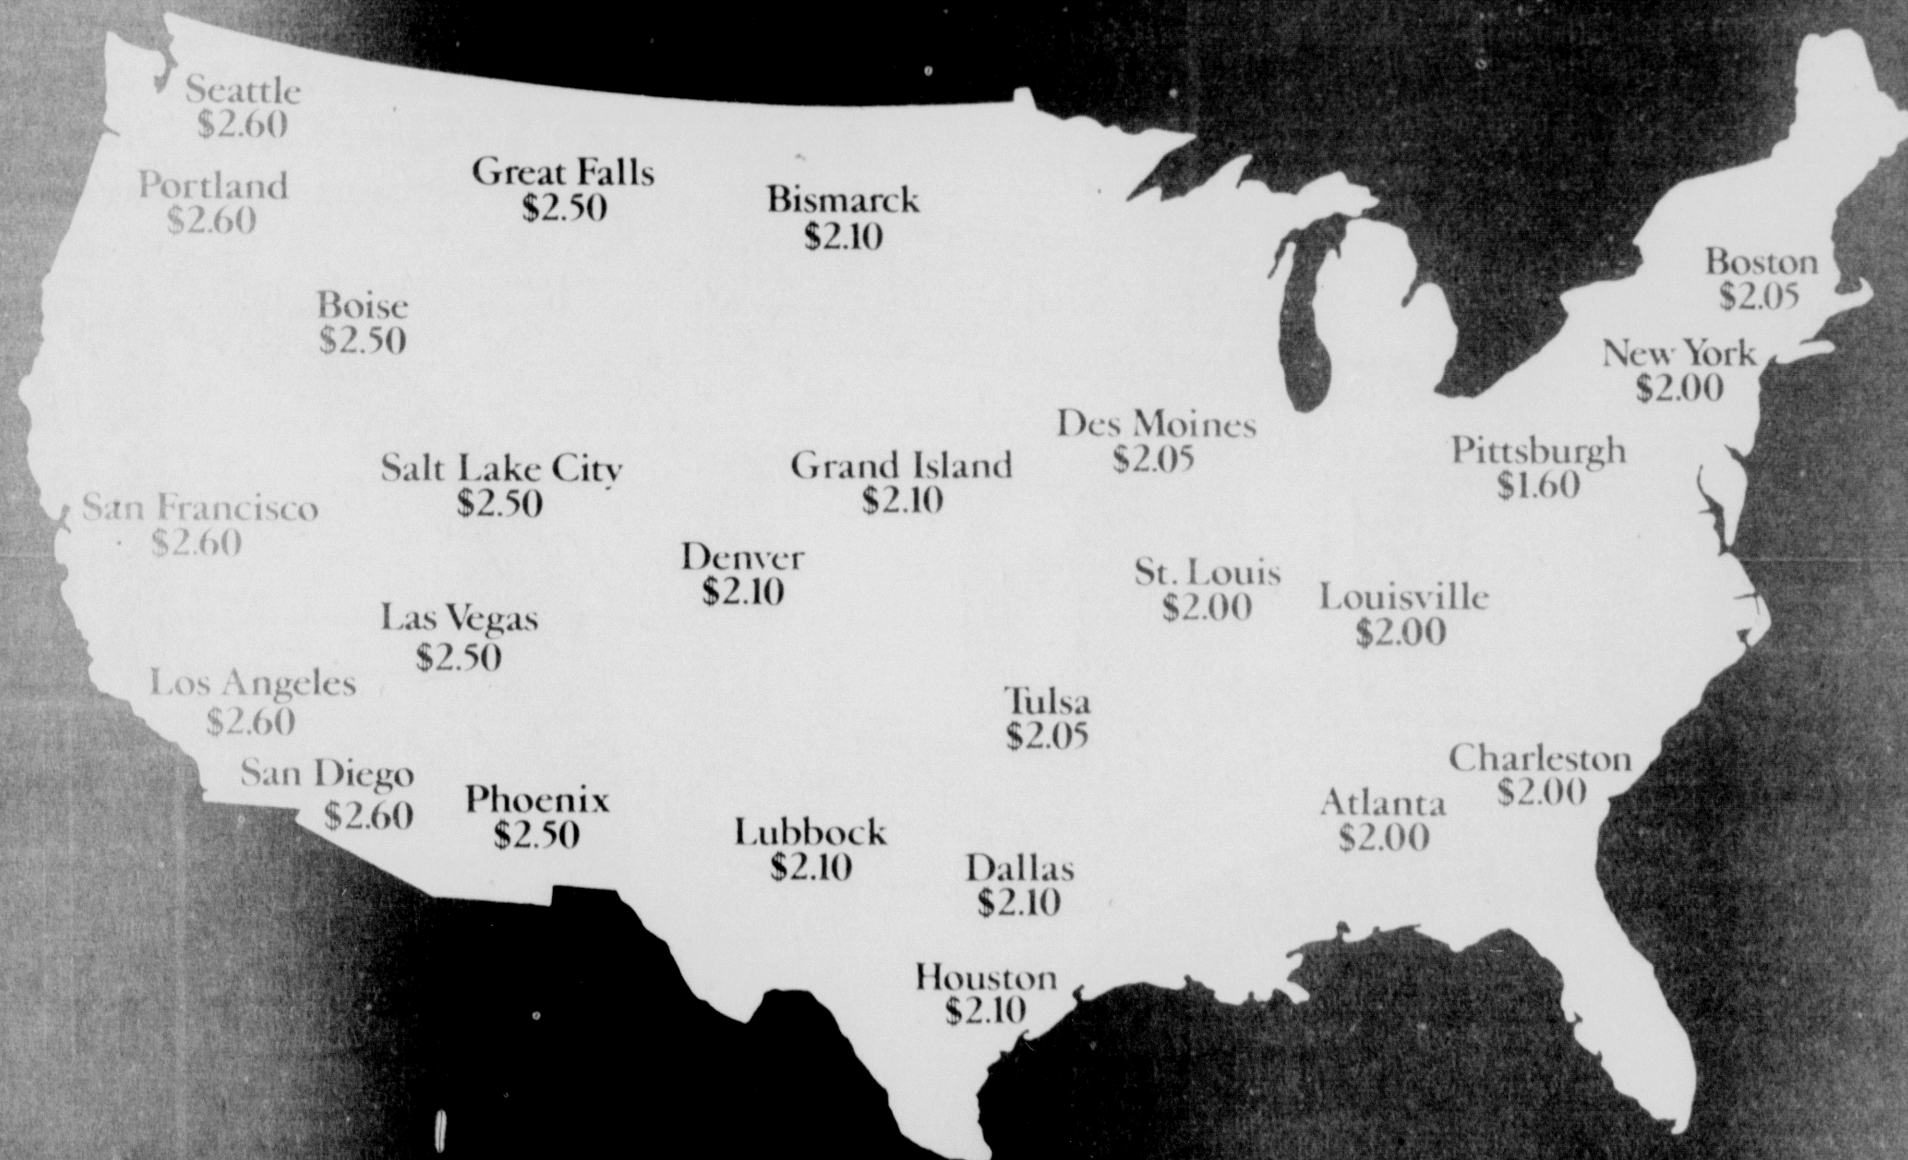

The sportsmanship and fair play of the game made for an enjoyable evening.

Best Wishes to all elected to positions of authority in last Tuesday's election.

Your financial needs, large or small, are always considered personal and confidential at The First National Bank of Washington Court House.

And, our advice and counsel are always without charge or obligation — part of being a complete service bank!

Spend 10 minutes in the country for $2.60 or less.

All rates plus tax.

A 10-minute out-of-state call to anywhere in the United States (except Alaska and Hawaii) never costs more than $2.60, plus tax. Provided you follow a few simple rules.

Just dial long distance calls yourself, without operator assistance. And make your calls between 5-11 P.M., Sunday through Friday. (Rates are even lower after 11:00 P.M. and on weekends.)

That's all it takes to have amazingly inexpensive long distance calls.

And if you know the cost is low, you'll probably enjoy the calls more. Because you can spend more of the call talking and less of it looking at the clock.

So the next time you call long distance, call the inexpensive way.

That way you can be a lot more relaxed while you're spending time in the country.

Use Your Phone For All It's Worth.

Dial-it-yourself rates apply on self-dialed calls (without operator assistance) from residence and business phones anywhere in the U.S. (except Alaska) and on calls placed with an operator where direct dialing facilities are not available. Dial-it-yourself rates do not apply to person-to-person, coin, hotel guest, credit card, collect calls and on calls charged to another number.

City Christmas lights depend on power situation

Whether the Christmas decorations here will be lighted this year, depends on circumstances as they develop in the energy shortage — in this case the availability of electrical energy — Edward Fisher, chairman of the project this year, says. He commented that he has had numerous inquiries on what the effect of the energy shortage will have on the decorations, but observed that only time will provide the answer.

Fisher pointed out that the city's central business district will be bright with Christmas decorations, as it has been in the past, because they will be colorful, traditional and symbolic, light or no light.

He also pointed out that plans are progressing for the Christmas parade, although it has a limited budget. He added that any contributions will be welcome and may be made at the Chamber of Commerce office.

New U.S.-China developments seen

TOKYO (AP) — Judging from opening statements on both sides, some important new development in Chinese-American relations can be expected from U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's visit to Peking.

Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fei in a toast at the banquet he gave Saturday night said Kissinger was in Peking for the sixth time "to exchange views with us on the normalization of Sino-American relations and issues of common interest."

Kissinger in reply noted his last visit in February 1972, when President Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai agreed to set up liaison offices in Peking and Washington. He added: "We are determined to do much more and to complete the process that we started two years ago as rapidly as possible."

That "much more" could include an announcement that the two governments have resolved the question of Chinese financial assets frozen in the United States and claims for American property taken over by the Communists and that they have agreed to establish reciprocal trade missions.

This would give the growing U.S.-China trade a shot in the arm. But it would not put the two countries much closer to diplomatic recognition, the goal Kissinger obviously referred to.

Withdrawal of some or all of the 9,000 U.S. troops on Taiwan could be another by-product of Kissinger's visit. The United States has promised to pull 3,000 out, and the communists Nixon and Chou signed in 1972 said all of them would be removed when the situation warranted.

This is one of the major steps the Chinese regard as a preliminary to an exchange of ambassadors. The other, more important one is for the United States to break diplomatic relations with President Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government on Taiwan.

The Nationalists continue to invoke the long years of American friendship and support for Chiang. But privately they see the handwriting on the wall. Their newspapers are preparing the public for a final break.

A rupture in the formal ties between Washington and Taipei would not mean an end to trade and other exchanges between the two. Other nations that have taken the same route have markedly increased their trade with Taiwan. Since Japan broke relations with the Nationalist government last year, some 400,000 Japanese have visited Taiwan.

Nixon campaign leader charged

CHICAGO (AP) — The man who managed the President's 1968 campaign in Illinois has been named in a federal indictment charging him with a $1 million fraud scheme involving banks and a New York City credit union.

The 23-count indictment against William H. Rentschler, 48, was made public Monday. It charged that Rentschler fraudulently got loans from 27 banks and the Aetna Business Credit Inc. of New York City. The loans were intended for himself and corporations of which he was an officer or a stockholder, the government said. Rentschler claims he is innocent.

Hospital Auxiliary tours new facilities

The bi-monthly meeting of the Fayette County Memorial Hospital Auxiliary was held in the conference room at the hospital Monday. Mrs. Ralph Child conducted the business session.

The new slate of officers for 1974 is: Mrs. Child, president; Mrs. Marjorie Evans, president-elect; Mrs. Robert Heiny, vice president; Mrs. Ralph Gebhart, recording secretary; Mrs. O.W. Landrum, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Robert Woodmansee, treasurer.

Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator, advised Auxiliary members of the part they will take in case of a fire or disaster. Mrs. Jean Coe, director of the hospital's school of licensed practical nursing, took the group on a tour of new classrooms.

Announcement was made that Kunz and the hospital trustees will entertain, at a recognition dinner, the Auxiliary members who have accumulated 200 hours or more of service at 7 p.m. Nov. 29 at the Terrace Lounge.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cincinnati Catholic Archbishop Joseph L. Bernardin says that Cleveland Bishop Clarence G. Isenman, 66, is suffering from a heart condition that "limits his ability."

'We're walking on eggs' - Pfeifer

Mythical AP title removes sting of missing playoffs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The coaches of two Associated Press state poll champions see no extra pressure for their teams in the Ohio high school football playoffs.

"It gives our kids something to be proud about," said Joe Novak of Class AAA titleholder Warren Western Reserve.

"I don't feel we have any extra burden. It's a tremendous feeling," added J. D. Graham, who coaches Class A champion Newark Catholic.

Maurice Pfeifer, the coach of Class AA king Washington Court House, said his school's first AP title removed the sting of missing the playoffs.

"It's more than on paper to us. We're walking on eggs," said Pfeifer. "We're disappointed at not making the playoffs. That reflects our scheduling."

Western Reserve, now in its eighth season of football, won the state playoffs and finished second behind Massillon in the Class AAA ratings last fall.

The Raiders carry a 27-game winning streak into their state semifinal game with No. 5 Bowling Green at Akron Friday night.

Western Reserve finished with a 260-216 vote margin over runnerup Cincinnati Moeller in the balloting by a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Moeller, 10-0-0 like Western Reserve and Bowling Green, faces No. 3

Youngstown Mooney, 9-1-0, in its semifinal test at Cincinnati Friday night.

With ten straight triumphs, Washington Court House finished with its greatest record ever and owned a 212-181 margin over No. 2 Cincinnati Reading in Class AA.

Reading, meanwhile, puts its 10-0-0 record on the line against third-ranked Ironton and No. 6 Cleveland Benedictine faces No. 15 Lima Catholic in the Class AA semifinals.

Newark Catholic, 9-0-0, draws No. 13 Montpelier and No. 7 Middletown Fenwick plays No. 10 Ashtabula St. John in the Class A semifinals.

Newark Catholic collected 230 points to finish 72 points in front of runnerup Ada among the small school powers.

Washington Court House succeeds Columbus Watterson as the Class AA state poll champion. Newark Catholic takes over for Marion Pleasant, which had won the last two Class A crowns.

Chiefs bury Chicago deeper in NFC race

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The so-called "tired old men" of the Kansas City Chiefs aren't so tired and old after all.

The Chicago Bears will vouch for that.

The Chiefs, with their entire offensive line intact for the first time this National Football League season, ground out 327 yards Monday night and their fired-up defense limited Chicago to 146 yards in a 19-7 victory over the Bears.

Kansas City's success in the nationally televised battle lifted the Chiefs into a tie with Oakland in the American Conference West Division with a 5-3-1 record and buried Chicago, 3-6, deeper in the National Conference Central Division cellar.

"First place?" echoed Chiefs' Coach Hank Stram. "That's what it's all about. It was a fantastic effort. Mike Livingston rose to the occasion again and did a terrific job. They were great kicks by Jan Stenerud, and the defense played another tough, well-coordinated game."

Livingston, replacing the injured Len Dawson for the second straight week, hit on 11 of 22 passes for 146 yards, including a 24-yard touchdown strike to Otis Taylor in the third quarter.

Stenerud chipped in with field goals of 47, 17, 43 and 42 yards, all in the first half, to give the Chiefs, who have won two in a row, a 12-0 advantage.

The Chiefs' defense dumped quarterback Bobby Douglass six times for losses totaling 64 yards. Three of the sacks were by Marvin Upshaw, who ganged up with Curly Culp to help make the night miserable for Douglass.

Douglass had two moments of success although one was short lived. He rambled 50 yards to the goal in the second quarter when the score was 6-0 but offsetting penalties nullified the run.

Trailing 19-0, Douglass guided the Bears on a five-play, 70-yard touchdown drive that ended with Carl Garrett sweeping wide to the left for the final nine yards.

World Open golf match proves flop

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—There is every indication that this may be the first and last World Open Golf Tournament.

"We have a two-year contract," said Bill Maurer, president of the sponsoring corporation, "but we have an understanding that we can be excused next year if we want to."

He didn't say specifically, but there were hints that he might exercise that option.

The world's richest tournament, offering $500,000 in total prizes with a record $100,000 to the winner, has been a financial flop in the first half of its inaugural two-week run.

It has been one of the poorest-attended tournaments on the pro tour this year. Attendance figures have not been announced, but the galleries numbered only a few hundred — if that — daily.

There are three principal reasons: —The absence of some of the game's top gate attractions — Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf, Lee Trevino, U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller; —A cold front that sent temperatures plummeting into the 20s; and —The relative inaccessibility of the Pinehurst Country Club in central North Carolina, well removed from any population center.

600 press tickets for OSU-Michigan tilt

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—More than 600 press credentials have been issued for the Nov. 24 college football showdown at Ann Arbor between top-ranked Ohio State and fourth-ranked Michigan.

pheasant ranges in the Midwest, are considered the conclusion is inescapable that recent changes in farming practices have been the primary cause for the reduction in pheasant populations."

There was a time when small, family-operated farms were plentiful. Farmlots were small and crops diversified. Fencerows, woodlots and drainage ditches provided safe haven and travel lanes for ringnecks to and from feeding stations.

In the days before heavy reliance on chemical fertilizers, crops of clover, alfalfa and other legumes were rotated to replenish the soil, bear seeds or provide green manure. Those crops afforded protection to the spring-nesting hens. Grain fields provided food.

Today the small farm has disappeared. In its place is the large farm, highly mechanized, efficiently operated. Gone are the fencerows, the nesting habitat and, to some extent, the

Bucks hold top spot in AP grid ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nebraska returned to the Top Ten and UCLA moved into eighth place but the seven top teams — led by No. 1 Ohio State — held on to their rankings Monday in the weekly Associated Press college football poll.

The No. 1-ranked Buckeyes of Ohio State, on the heels of Saturday's 35-0 trouncing of Michigan State, received 35 first-place votes and 1,130 points from the 61 sports writers and broadcasters

Woody won't look past winless Iowa

COLUMBUS (AP)—Woody Hayes said Monday complacency will be no problem for his top-ranked Ohio State football team when it plays winless Iowa this week.

"One advantage our team has is that it has a mean, old coach," Hayes said, looking ahead to the Big Ten clash Saturday between his 8-0 Buckeyes and the 0-9 Hawkeyes.

coach continued. "They are opening up big holes in that line."

HAYES ALSO was pleased with a third straight shutout and said, "Our defense has been consistently good. But will all of those great players on defense, one man (All-American linebacker Randy Gradishar) is 30 tackles ahead of everybody."

"We PREPARE for each team each week. That's the only way you get better," said the dean of the Big Ten coaches, refusing to look ahead next week to Michigan.

Hayes acknowledged Michigan State did a good job of containing Cornelius Greene, Ohio State's slick-running quarterback in a 35-0 romp over the Spartans.

"If teams start coming at us and try to stick us," Hayes said, "watch us put the ball in the air — at least in warm-ups."

The 23-year Ohio State coach obviously was thinking of the Buckeyes' seldom used passing game. The Big Ten coleaders with Michigan have passed just 69 times in eight games while averaging 363 yards on the ground.

Ohio State already has established a one-season team rushing record with 2,907 yards with two games remaining. Tailback Archie Griffin is the ringleader with 1,019 yards.

Hayes has mixed emotions about his sophomore sensation, already the greatest rushing halfback in the schools history.

"I'd like to see him get more yardage," Hayes said. "But if I see him out there writhing in pain with an injury, the old coach would have to say, 'Hayes, you're not very smart.' Arch understands that."

"Our line has to be an enormous factor in our success this year," the

Specialists aid Bucks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State leads the nation in fewest points permitted, has an offense averaging 417 yards and Woody Hayes talks about his Buckeye specialists.

"Our kicking game is ahead of other teams because it's a veteran one," the veteran Ohio State mentor told writers Monday during his weekly press conference.

"The thing we have to worry about is complacency," Hayes added. "And one advantage our team has is its mean, old coach."

The unbeaten Buckeyes, sharing the Big Ten lead with Michigan, have returned 40 punts for 558 yards. The opposition has 10 returns for just 21 yards.

"Neal Colzie had almost nine times as many punt return yards in one game as our opponents have all season," said Hayes.

Colzie, a junior defensive back from Coral Gables, Fla., piled up 170 yards with eight punt returns during a 35-0 rout of Michigan State Saturday. One went for a 43-yard touchdown, his fourth of the season.

coach continued. "They are opening up big holes in that line."

HAYES ALSO was pleased with a third straight shutout and said, "Our defense has been consistently good. But will all of those great players on defense, one man (All-American linebacker Randy Gradishar) is 30 tackles ahead of everybody."

Defensive end Jim Cope, however, was named the team's top defensive player against Michigan State. The 228-pound junior was in on 13 tackles, sacked the quarterback three times and threw one runner for a loss.

Defensive back Neal Colzie was credited with the Play of the Week on a 20 yard punt return.

On offense, All-America tackle John Hicks was the top lineman and Griffin the No. 1 back.

Bengals fear Namath comeback

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Bengals, fearing another Joe Namath comeback, are working to get as many veterans as possible back into the lineup for the game here Sunday with the New York Jets.

"I remember the last time we played them," said Coach Paul Brown, "two years ago in New York, the last game of the season."

"We were the team that Joe 'came back' against that time too, and they beat us."

"Our job this week," said trainer Mary Pollins, "is to get some people back ready to play."

The list includes rookie tight end Al Chandler, veteran receiver Chip Myers and safety Tommy Casanova.

Brown said he was breathing hard until the Bengals were able to pull out last Sunday's victory over the Buffalo Bills 16-13 with a last second field goal by Horst Muhlmann.

Fiesta Bowl bid goes to Pittsburgh

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Fiesta Bowl officials have decided to invite Pittsburgh to be the visiting team in the Dec. 21 contest, according to published reports.

The Orlando, Fla., Sentinel said in Tuesday editions the Fiesta Bowl chose Pittsburgh after learning that Tulane and Houston apparently are committed to another postseason bowl.

New Holland area explored for oil

By MARK THELLMANN
NEW HOLLAND — Boom-twist, boom-twist! No, it's not a new dance, unless you consider what the huge Huffman-Bowers drill bit is doing as it pounds and turns into the bowels of the earth as dancing.

That black, gooey, but oh-so precious substance is being sought on farmland owned by Bob Rowland off Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, a mile and a half north of here.

Victor Carlson, geologist for the small independent organization known as the Ephraim Petroleum Co. is the man behind the drilling. He has hired the Huffman-Bowers Drilling Co. out of New Lexington to drill down into the earth in hopes of finding oil.

Rodger V. Bowers, owner of the Huffman-Bowers firm explains, "Although our average drilling depth per minute is 32-48 feet, it all depends on what's down there. Right now, there's a lot of limestone and we're presently at 600 feet."

BOWERS FEELS the project will continue to a depth of 2,200 feet before failure would be admitted.

"If we don't strike something by then, it'll probably be time to find a new location," he said.

Asked about the big carbon steel, or alloy steel drill bits, Bowers said, "We keep eight bits on hand. We haven't had any break so far, but they do have to be re-dressed after every 60-100 feet. The points get pretty flat after working down that far."

Re-dressing entails heating the bit in a little furnace and then re-shaping the point on the end.

ROWLAND whose home is on Glaze Road, explained how the Ohio Department of Natural Resources strictly supervises drilling operations for oil and natural gas.

"A farmer leases his land for a dollar an acre per year to the drilling company," he said, "and if oil or gas is found, the farmer gets 12.5 per cent of the profit."

Rowland cited an unfortunate incident which occurred 12-15 years ago when state supervision wasn't so strict.

"A drilling company hit oil somewhere in Morrow County and because it was in cavities, the drilling opened up new channels for the oil to flow through and many streams became polluted."

Skilled workers at Ford reportedly reject contract

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers tentative contract agreement with Ford Motor Co. is in doubt following reports the pact was rejected by the automaker's skilled trades workers.

Sources close to the union said Monday that Ford's 20,000 tradesmen voted by a 3-1 margin against ratifying the pact, negotiated Oct. 26. They said the over-all vote, including maintenance and production workers, is very close, and could go either way.

The union originally said it would disclose results of the voting Monday, but has postponed its announcement until Wednesday. A union spokesman said ratification ballots are still being counted.

The status of the three-year contract package, covering 185,000 Ford workers, could hinge on an amendment to the UAW constitution.

The document was amended in 1966 with a provision stating that no national contract could be concluded unless a majority of the union's skilled tradesmen votes for it.

UAW president Leonard Woodcock said last week the amendment refers only to the contract's application to skilled trades workers and not to production or maintenance employees, by far the majority.

Sources said the UAW's Ford bargainers met to discuss the skilled trades reported rejection Monday. One local officer said UAW officers told him the Ford agreement "looks endangered."

Most other contract provisions parallel those accepted by Chrysler Corp. workers in September. They include a three per cent a year wage hike criticized by some Ford workers as too small, and limits on mandatory overtime criticized as too weak.

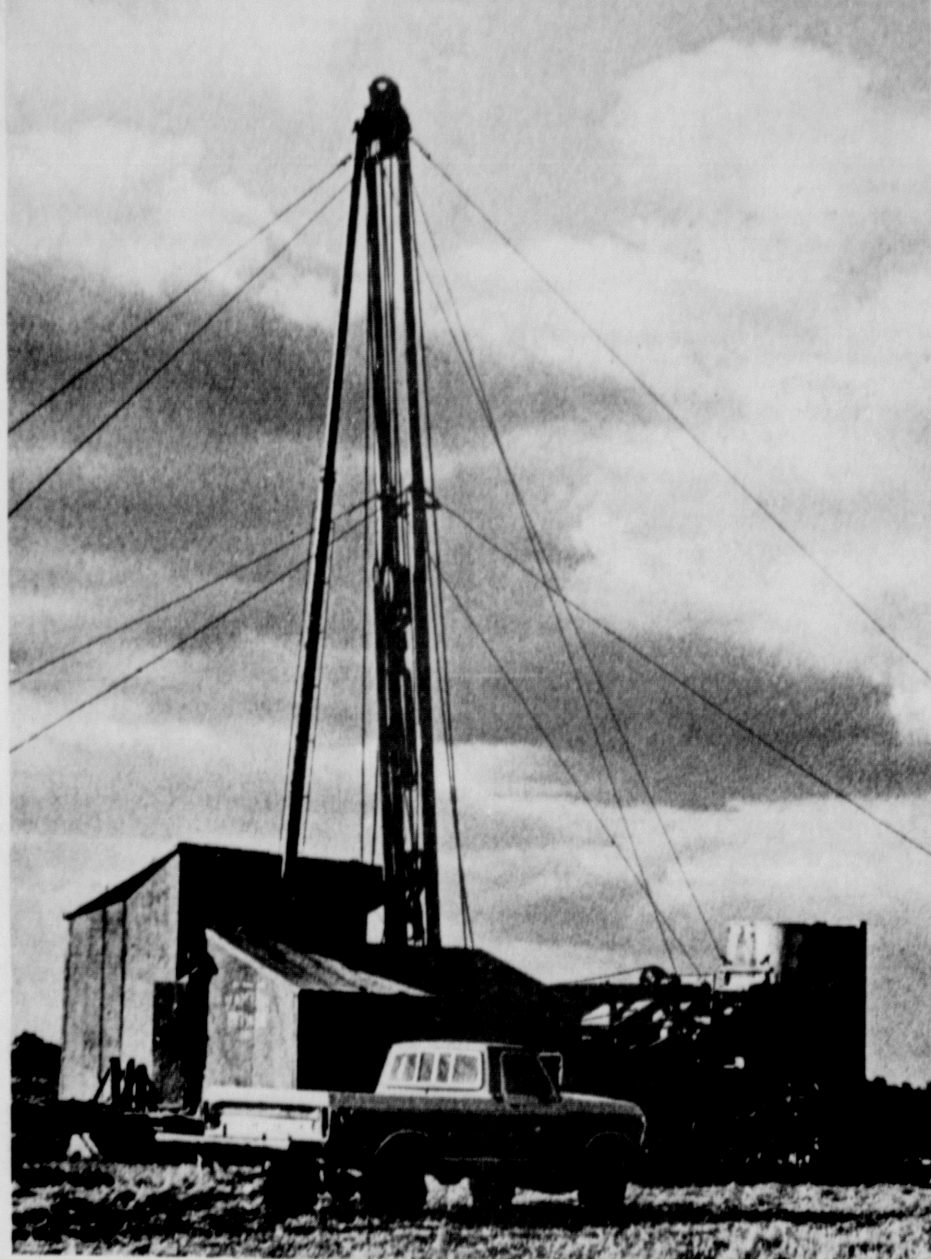

The confusion at Ford could jeopardize the UAW's attempt to settle the U.S. General Motors contract by Thanksgiving.

Cleveland man named treasurer of group

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A Cleveland Ohio man has been selected treasurer of the newly formed United States Dressage Federation.

Ivan I. Besugloff Jr. was named to the post along with other officers at the USDF's first annual meeting here.

Dressage is the art of training a horse in obedience and movement. The USDF claims 2,800 members.

HOPEFULLY A GUSHER — This could easily be mistaken for an oil well under the cloud-laden skies of Oklahoma. Actually it's near New Holland.

TOOL DRESSER — Paul E. Bennington, an employee of the Huffman-Bowers Drilling Co., is shown heating the drill bit in a small furnace in order to redress the tip so it can be put back to work.

Social service programs funded 6 more weeks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thirteen social service programs, scheduled to be phased out, received an additional six weeks funding Monday by the state Controlling Board.

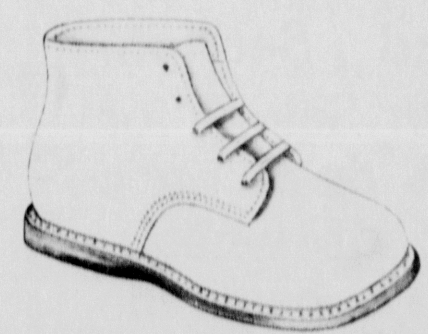

Charles W. Bates, director of the Ohio Department of Public Welfare, said the money would permit state agencies to "efficiently restructure their operations and phase out the programs" by Dec. 30.

The funds included $19,812 in state day care monies and $654,518 in federal monies, Bates said.

The agencies involved included the Buckeye Hills Hocking Valley Regional Development Commission; Clermont Mental Health Center; East Cleveland Board of Education; Ohio Valley Regional Development Commission and Sinclair Community College.

The bidding:

Opening lead - queen of diamonds.

Wherever you go in bridge circles, whether the caliber of play is good, bad or indifferent, the one factor that stands out a mile is that more points are lost on the easy hands than on the tough ones.

Undoubtedly the reason is that difficult hands are much more rare, but this merely points up the importance of dealing precisely and advantageously with the everyday garden variety of hands normally dealt.

For example, consider the bidding in this hands. North has no real choice but to bid a spade, nor is there any question about his rebid in spades.

South's two club bid is also clear-cut, and so is his jump to three notrump. Yet, what happens quite often in such deals is that one player or the other, for reasons unknown, goes off on tangent and steers the partnership into the wrong contract.

When it comes to the play there is an even greater chance of deviation from the norm. Assume a diamond lead won with the ace. What should declarer do next?

I can testify first-hand that many players in this situation promptly take a spade finesse. For this they are duly punished when East wins with the king and returns a diamond, closing the door to the contract.

These impetuous declarers fail to observe that, by entering dummy with a heart at trick two and taking a club finesse at trick three, they are assuring the contract beyond the shadow of a doubt. The reason they fail is because the lead happens to be in their own hand at trick one and they find it simpler and more convenient to try a spade finesse at once than cross to dummy for a club finesse.

They're just plain lazy, that's all.

Big Breasts Embarrass Girl

My 18-year-old daughter is embarrassed by the enormous size of her breasts.

She has begun to inquire about plastic surgery. How safe is the operation?

Mrs. G.B., Ga.

Dear Mrs. B.:

The reduction of the size of the breasts is really not considered to be totally in the province of plastic surgery. Many general surgeons, specially trained in the techniques of breast surgery, perform this type of operation. The operation is completely safe and does not, by its nature, carry any special risks.

The embarrassment that pendulous breasts so often cause teenagers and young adults can create psychological scars that cannot be casually overlooked. Many young women withdraw from school functions and social activities because of their constant awareness of the conspicuous size of their breasts.

There are many techniques by which the breast can be surgically made smaller. The choice of the operation, of course, depends entirely on the surgeon.

The scars that are left are often barely perceptible. The concern that most mothers and daughters feel is about the possible effect of such an operation on child-bearing and breast-feeding. Your doctor will give you the added assurance that surgery does not affect these functions.

Your daughter will benefit markedly, both in her physical appearance and from the psychological advantages that accrue.

If you are giving serious thought to the operation, don't waste too much time. The delay simply reinforces the emotional burden your daughter is carrying.

Are there any medicines that can be put on the fingernails of children who bite their nails?

Mrs. W.W., Mich.

Yes, there are bad-tasting medicines that are applied to the nails of children by parents who have no real understanding of the problem. It is exceedingly unwise to use this method of breaking children of the habit of nail-biting.

Psychologists and pediatricians believe that this habit reflects inner tensions and anxieties. It may be the result of jealousy, sibling rivalry (competition with a sister or brother) or too rigid standards of behavior.

The real cause of the nailbiting must be determined and removed. The only thing worse than the use of bad-tasting medicine is to shame the child and embarrass him in an effort to cure him.

Understanding, patience, and help, not punishment, are the best treatments for nail-biting.

Kennel Club 'graduation' rites held

A number of spectators attended graduation ceremonies at the Fine Arts Building in the Fairground Monday evening as 16 dogs received diplomas for successful completion of the Paint Valley Kennel Club's obedience school.

Nick Nichols of the Columbus All-breed Training Club judged the graduating class, and trophies were awarded to the four highest finishers. "Dusty," a Keeshond owned by Mrs. Vicki Snow, Sabina, captured the top prize while the Martin family, of Old Chillicothe Rd., took home second and fourth places.

Collies "Duke" and "Duchess" owned by teen-aged Scott and Jennifer Martin, respectively, placed in the top four. "Duke" was second while "Duchess" captured the fourth place trophy.

A miniature Schnauzer named "Baron" was third. He is owned by Robert Russell, Mount Sterling.

Each graduate was given a bag of home-made dog cookies, created by Mrs. Elmer Haymaker, who was the course instructor. Assisting Mrs. Haymaker, Devalon Rd., throughout the ten-week program was Mrs. Robert Burnett, Prairie Road.

The next event on the Paint Valley Kennel Club calendar is a dinner at Anderson's Restaurant Dec. 6, beginning at 7:30 p.m. A "doggie-gift" exchange will be held during the dinner.

Members and their guests are welcome to attend, as are persons who join the club prior to that date. Further information is available from Robert Schneider, club president, at 335-6676.

Skyscrapers said energy 'monsters'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—One of the hungriest maws in the current fuel shortage is that of the average glass and steel skyscraper, often built without regard for energy consumption, according to Cleveland architects.

Heat escapes through the glass during the winter, and sunny days compete with cooling systems during the summer.

"Those buildings are real monsters as far as energy is concerned," says Fred Toguchi, who favors research on the subject.

"Building costs have been going up so dramatically you have to battle to keep things within a reasonable budget," he said. "This puts less emphasis on long range operating costs."

Architect William A. Gould traveled to England recently to study energy conservation there for the American Institute of Architects. He said the British are considering assigning energy consumption levels to buildings before construction begins.

Similar national standards here would force architects to design buildings with energy in mind, he noted.

In the past, buildings "were designed to go along with nature," architect Peter van Dijk said. "Now they're fighting nature."

A new legend is born

By MIKE FLYNN

Throughout the long, eventful history of Fayette County high school football there has never been a more colorful, talked-about team than the legendary 1952 Washington C.H. Blue Lions.

But, to all the men who revel in the glory days of Washington C.H. football, and to their sons, who have grown up listening to the endless stories, a new legend has been born.

The Washington C.H. Blue Lions, undefeated and champions of the South Central Ohio League, have captured a mythical Class AA state title. The Lions, who completed the schools' first unbeaten season in just more than two decades last Friday night, were ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press' Class AA high school football poll which was released today.

The coveted No. 1 rating, which the Lions have held since Oct. 2, is the first for a Washington C.H. team and perhaps the first in 46 years of SCOL football. More importantly, the mythical championship climaxes a historical year for head coach Maurice Pfeifer's Blue Lion edition.

THE 1973 SEASON saw the classy Lions become the winningest team in Washington C.H.'s tradition-rich football history with 10 victories, eclipsing the 1952 team's effort; win the team's second undisputed league title in 18 years and the first since 1968, in addition to shattering and matching a number of other school records.

Defense was definitely the trademark of the unbeaten Washington C.H. team and the stingy defenders were primarily responsible for the incredible success. The Lions fired eight shutouts to equal a 44-year-old record turned in by the 1929 Washington C.H. team. Seven of those shutouts were consecutive as the Lions stacked up 35 straight scoreless quarters over a two-year span before Circleville scored a harmless touchdown in the eight game.

THE DEFENSIVE UNIT, led by All-Ohio prospects Garth Cox and John Sanderson, permitted a meager 19 points and forced 17 pass interceptions, a feat which tied a record set by the 1952 team.

The often-overlooked offensive team, behind All-Ohio candidate Chuck Wilson, rolled up 372 points, an average of 37.2 per game and 3,810 offensive yards. Wilson, a senior tailback, was the sparkplug by gaining 1,537 yards on 237 carries and scoring 184 points, a feat which is believed to be the top individual scoring production in Ohio this fall.

Washington C.H., with 20 seniors and "Sacrifice" as the team motto, wrapped up the season in grand style by beating Columbus Ready 21-0; Chillicothe 27-0; Portsmouth 42-0; Madison Plains 52-0; Greenfield 34-0; Wilmington 44-0; Columbus Wehrle 38-0; Circleville 20-7; Miami Trace 36-12, and Hillsboro 58-0.

Watergate panel offer under study

President to meet probbers?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee today called for a meeting with President Nixon at his earliest convenience to question him on Watergate matters.

Sources said the vote in executive session was 5-to-1 in favor of a resolution introduced by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., to formally request the meeting and ask the President to make available all tape recordings and documents relevant to the panel's investigation.

Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., cast the only vote against the resolution, and Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., was absent, the sources said.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Monday that Nixon is considering a committee proposal for a face-to-face meeting as part of a renewed White House effort to clear up the scandal.

It was understood that Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., committee vice chairman, and Weicker would refuse presidential invitations to question Nixon at White House meetings being held for Republican senators and congressmen and some Democrats this week.

Weicker had suggested that committee members not participate in the closed-door sessions unless the President agreed to meet with the full committee.

Weicker's resolution called for a committee meeting "to be held at the President's earliest convenience, at the White House, with statements or answers to questions not having to be under oath, with counsel for both the President and the select (Watergate) committee participating, and with a complete transcript of such discussion, which entire transcript will be made immediately public."

An aide to another committee member said Weicker wrote a letter urging colleagues to adopt a position that no member of the Watergate panel should visit the President unless Nixon agrees to meet with the full committee.

Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., was also reported by a staff member to be unsatisfied with the President's announced plan to call in all Republican senators and representatives and some Democrats to give them his side of the Watergate controversy.

But meanwhile, Vice Chairman Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., and Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., received invitations to the first of the White House receptions scheduled for late today. Gurney's spokesman said the senator planned to attend; Baker's spokesman said late Monday the vice chairman had not yet replied to the invitation.

A press aide for Weicker, the only other GOP member of the committee, said the senator would not comment on the White House meetings until after the committee's executive session.

Ever since former White House counsel John W. Dean III's testimony before the committee last summer implicating the President and his top aides in the Watergate cover-up, the committee leaders have sought to obtain Nixon's version of the events. Nixon refused to meet with the committee then, but there has been no formal response to the panel's latest invitation.

Lawyers for the committee met with White House counsel last week to discuss the possibility of a meeting, but neither side would say what the result of that meeting was. The committee reportedly would be willing to meet with the President at the White House and question him without asking that he be sworn in, but with the agreement that a record of the meeting be released.

Gulf Oil admits illegal donations to Nixon kitty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gulf Oil Corp. today pleaded guilty to making illegal contributions from corporate funds to President Nixon's 1972 campaign and the unsuccessful presidential campaigns of two Democratic congressmen.

One of Gulf's vice presidents, Claude C. Wild Jr., also pleaded guilty to a formal charge of consenting to the illegal Nixon donation of $100,000. The other illegal contributions were $15,000 to the campaign of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and $10,000 to the campaign of Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.

U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart Jr. levied on Gulf the maximum fine of $5,000 and fined Wild the maximum $1,000 for an individual. But he imposed no jail term. Wild could have received one year in prison.

Meanwhile, an American Ship Building Co. employee told the Senate Watergate committee that his superiors instructed him to make contributions to the Nixon re-election campaign with a company bonus and to lie about it when questioned by the FBI.

Matthew E. Clark Jr., purchasing director of the company's Amship's division in Lorain, Ohio, testified that he was given a $5,000 bonus by company secretary Robert E. Bartlome on April 6, 1972 and told to make out a $3,000 check and a $100 check to subsidiaries of the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

The remainder of the bonus, after payroll deductions, was to be given in cash to other political campaigns, Clark said.

He said he was told that the contributions had to be made on April 6 because a new federal campaign spending disclosure law would go into effect the next day.

Clark said he was informed later by company chairman George M. Steinbrenner III that FBI agents wanted to interview him and that he should speak first with chief counsel John H. Melcher.

Clark said Melcher told him to tell the FBI that the political contributions he made were voluntary and were made from his personal funds and after an agreement to do so between Clark and his wife.

Clark then gave a statement to the FBI saying he had discussed the campaign with fellow employees and made the contribution because he believed President Nixon had helped the shipping industry.

Clark, who receives a salary of $16,300 a year, told the committee his statement to the FBI was false and a year later he signed a certificate given him by Bartlome which also was false. He certified, Clark said, that he never had been asked by a supervisor or a director of the company to make political contributions.

In federal court on Monday, another corporation, Braniff Airways Inc. and its chairman, Harding L. Lawrence, pleaded guilty to donating $40,000 illegally to Nixon's campaign. Hart fined the corporation $5,000 and Lawrence $1,000, but imposed no prison sentence on Lawrence.

Elderly Highland Countian slain

Two men charged in grocer's death

HILLSBORO — Two Greenfield men have been charged with felony murder in connection with the shooting death of an elderly proprietor of an antique-grocery store in the small Bridges community Monday morning.

Highland County Sheriff Walter Refitt said David Bennett, 22, and Douglas Howland, 22, both of Greenfield, were charged in the slaying of Joseph C. Barrett, 76, who was robbed and shotgunned to death in the Bridges store.

Dr. Paul Terrell, Highland County coroner, said Barrett was shot twice, once in the shoulder and once in the face, as he sat behind the counter of his store at about 10:30 a.m.

Both suspects are lodged in Highland County Jail, Sheriff Refitt said. No bond has been set.

Howland waived preliminary hearing in Hillsboro Municipal Court Tuesday morning and was bound over to the January term of the Highland County grand jury. Bennett asked for a continuance of his hearing in order to obtain legal counsel.

A MANHUNT followed the shooting and approximately 30 law enforcement officers from neighboring villages participated in the search.

The car driven by the two suspects was spotted at Charlie's Market at the intersection of Ohio 753 and Ohio 138 near Greenfield Monday evening. Two officers from the Greenfield Police Department chased Howland and Bennett into the nearby Kimball's Trailer Court, Carford Pike, when they fled from the auto. Howland was captured at 5:30 p.m. near the trailer court, and officers from the Highland County Sheriff's Department, Greenfield, Hillsboro, Mowrystown, Leesburg and Highland police departments continued the search for Bennett throughout the night.

Bennett finally surrendered to Sheriff Refitt at 1:35 a.m. Tuesday at Greenfield police headquarters.

HIGHLAND COUNTY sheriff's deputies said all bills were removed from the cash drawer in the counter of Barrett's Ye Olde Shoppe in Bridges, although a considerable amount of change was left behind. Barrett's wife, Lavina, estimated $100 was missing. Also missing were Barrett's wallet, thought to contain about $40, and a funeral flower fund container which had been sitting on the counter. Investigation did not disclose whether any antiques were missing.

Barrett's body was discovered by a neighbor, Mrs. Clyde Teeters, who had

Courthouse cooler till crisis ends

Preliminary steps to follow President Nixon's guidelines concerning the nationwide energy crisis were mapped at a joint meeting between the Fayette County Board of Commissioners and section heads from all county offices Monday afternoon.

Commissioners, in addition to taking tentative action on the fuel shortage crisis in Fayette County, accepted a bid for new communications equipment for the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, awarded a construction contract for flooring work in the Courthouse and adopted a resolution agreeing to cooperate with the Ohio Department of Transportation for replacement of bridge and improvement of a county road.

The board and representatives from all county offices agreed to lower thermostats during regular working hours in the Courthouse. Charles Brown, Courthouse custodian, will check with the Dayton Power and Light

Harsha demands immediate end of U.S. oil exports to Europe

WASHINGTON — Congressman William H. Harsha today urged President Nixon to halt United States oil exports to Europe immediately because of the energy crisis and demanded the names of the companies involved be made public.

Congressman Harsha urged this action following the disclosure by the Cost of Living Council that United States exports to Europe tripled this year and that prices for these products jumped 143 per cent. Some 53.3 million gallons of fuel is being exported from the U.S. during 1973.

Referring to government regulations protecting the confidentiality of firms involved in such transactions, Congressman Harsha pointed out that "The names of these companies should be divulged, particularly if they are the same ones who are crying that they don't have enough fuel to meet domestic orders and are urging the American public to grin and bear the energy shortage."

"If they have been misleading the country in such a manner to think this, the American public certainly has every right to know. 'That the oil companies should continue to reap the profits from exporting precious fuel oil products when the rest of the country is asked to tighten its energy belt during a national emergency flies in the face of all reason. This is the kind of double standard which cannot be tolerated if any energy conservation effort is to succeed and it must be stopped immediately,' Harsha said.

"With the Arab countries cutting off our fuel supplies and with many American companies and businesses wondering how they are going to make it through the winter, we obviously haven't single drop of oil for spare for the international market."

"Americans have been asked to make all sorts of sacrifices, from lowering thermostats and driving at lower speeds to paying higher prices for fuel and facing the real threat of gasoline rationing. The 53.3 million gallons of oil shipped this year will not put an end to our own fuel shortages, but it will help to keep businesses, farm operations and schools from closing."

Israel is refusing to turn over to the U.N. peacekeeping force full control of the highway to the town of Suez and the Egyptian 3rd Army across the Suez Canal until Egypt fixes a prisoner of war exchange, a high-ranking Israeli official reported today.

The official said Finnish U.N. soldiers set up a roadblock on the Cairo-Suez highway outside Suez Monday evening, but Israeli soldiers tore it down, and "fisticuffs took place."

"It was not very serious," he reported. Then Israeli officers allowed the Finns to set up a checkpoint on the western outskirts of Suez, the source continued, but the Israelis maintained a checkpoint of their own nearby.

The official said Israeli and U.N. troops also were maintaining separate checkpoints at Kilometer 101, where the highway crosses the cease-fire line, despite a report Monday by the Israeli state radio that Israel had turned its checkpoint over to the U.N. force.

The cease-fire agreement negotiated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger last week provided for both the prisoner exchange and U.N. control of the highway through the Israeli lines to Suez, giving Egypt access to the town and its isolated troops.

"According to the agreement signed Sunday," the Israeli official said, "the United Nations is to replace the Israeli checkpoints as soon as it is established that prisoners of war are to be exchanged. There is not yet an agreement on the prisoners so we could not agree to replacing the checkpoints."

Meanwhile, Kissinger said in Peking that the Nixon Administration is considering a formal guarantee of Israel's security if the Jewish nation agrees to a peace treaty calling for its withdrawal from occupied Arab territory. He emphasized, however, that a U.S.-Israeli treaty was only one of several forms of guarantee under consideration.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim sent his undersecretary for special political affairs, Roberto E. Guyer of Argentina, to Egypt, Syria and Israel. A U.N. spokesman said he would provide Waldheim "a first-hand assessment" of the situation, but other diplomats at U.N. headquarters said he might try to arrange for exchanges of prisoners of war.

Kissinger mentioned the possibility of a formal guarantee for Israel in a television interview Monday with ABC, CBS and NBC during a break in his talks with Chinese leaders in Peking.

Kissinger said support of Israel's existence has been "a constant American policy" and Sen. J. W. Fulbright's proposal for an Israeli-American security treaty is only one of the ideas under consideration.

The secretary explained that if peace negotiations between Israel and the Arabs succeed, "there will be a very serious problem, especially for Israel, of how its security can be assured" because of the withdrawals it will have to make from the territories it has occupied in the last two Arab-Israeli wars.

Cracks delay Skylab again

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Skylab Program Director William C. Schneider says he hopes to set a new launch date for Skylab 3 after checking on new cracks in the Saturn 1B booster rocket.

Schneider said he hopes to reach the decision late today.

The astronauts, Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson, were to fly here from the Space Center at Houston to participate in the decision-making conference.

They originally were to have started their 85-day mission last Saturday, rocketing up for the third and final visit to the Skylab station. That was postponed until Thursday after hairline cracks were discovered in all eight stabilizer fins at the base of the rocket.

These had to be replaced to prevent possible breakup of the rocket in flight.

During a check Monday, additional cracks were found in seven of eight support beams in a circular band that connects the first and second stages of the Saturn 1B.

Officials called off the shot until at least Friday, but Schneider said chances of a launch on that date "are iffy at best."

"There is a feeling by some technical experts that we could launch with these newly discovered cracks and there would be no harm to the rocket," the program director said.

He added this is being evaluated, "and by postponing we are giving ourselves at least 24 hours to examine other areas that might give us cause for concern. We'll assess and then determine if we have to delay for one day or five days or 10 days or whether we have to roll back to the assembly building."

If the Saturn 1B has to be moved back to the hangar for major repairs or replacement, the delay could be a month or more.

Last ditch effort starts on campaign financing bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Another committee meeting has been scheduled Wednesday in what shapes up as a last ditch effort for enactment of a new campaign finance law by the current special legislative session.

Rep. Michael Del Bane, D-56 Hubbard, called the six-member conference committee session Monday after a meeting of Gov. John J. Gilligan and leaders of the Ohio AFL-CIO.

Del Bane said majority House Democrats are prepared to offer a compromise to counter one made last week by Republican members of the Senate-House committee.

"We now have our proposal and they have theirs. We're going to get together to try to come up with a bill," the chairman said.

Del Bane said Democrats are ready to go part way on a GOP demand to

Nixon pushes innocence drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is pressing his Watergate offensive by meeting privately with congressmen and disclosing plans to turn over to a federal judge presidential tape recordings and files.

At the same time, officials say White House lawyers are gathering material to answer "case by case, head to head" other non-Watergate allegations against Nixon and his administration. These range from Nixon's personal finances to the handling of campaign contributions.

Nixon opened his campaign Monday, saying it would "clear up ... once and for all" questions about the controversial Watergate tapes.

Developments concerning subpoenaed White House tape recordings came both from federal court and Nixon Monday, on a day in which he held the first of a series of meetings scheduled with all Republican members of Congress and some Democratic leaders.

Chou, Kissinger continue meets

PEKING (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai told American newsmen today that he won't visit the United States until Washington breaks relations with the Nationalist regime on Taiwan.

"As long as there is a representative of the Chiang Kaishek clique there, how can I go there?" said China's No. 2 man as he waited for his fourth meeting in as many days with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Chou also refused to predict when Washington might break with President Chiang's government, saying, "How can you ask me? Why don't you put the question to Dr. Kissinger?"

But the premier told the newsmen President Nixon is welcome to make a second trip to China.

Kissinger met for nearly three hours with Chairman Mao Tse-tung at his home in the Forbidden City, and Chou said today that Mao spoke in English when he asked the secretary of state to convey his regards to Nixon.

Chou said it was the longest meeting Mao has had with a foreign visitor in two years. A joint Chinese-American announcement said they discussed "a wide range of subjects in a friendly atmosphere." State Department recess are measures approved Monday by the House interior subcommittee on the environment that would regulate the surface mining of coal and license deep water ports to accommodate supertankers.

In the Senate, an Interior subcommittee scheduled hearings on a bill that would authorize a federal take-over of off-shore wells in California's Santa Barbara Channel, where drilling has been suspended since a massive oil spill in 1969.

Administrator Russell Train of the Environmental Protection Agency gave his support to a proposal authorizing temporary suspension of clean air standards for individual power plants and factories.

Meanwhile, an executive of an American firm handling oil in Saudi Arabia, was quoted as saying the effect of the Arab oil boycott will be felt within weeks. M.M. Ameen, vice president of Aramco, was quoted as having told the House Republican Task Force on Energy that the effect of the boycott cannot be avoided.

Of all the measures triggered by the President's televised address last week, the one with the most immediate impact on people's lives would be the emergency petroleum act authorized by Jackson.

In addition to rationing, the bill would authorize the President to order such energy-saving steps as lower speed limits and shorter school hours in an effort to reduce by 25 per cent the nation's current consumption of roughly 18 million barrels of oil a day.

place restrictions on campaign spending by labor unions, since Republicans said they would do likewise with regard to big business interests who normally give a lot of help to their campaigns.

However, a Republican demand that union restrictions also include letting individual union members earmark their contributions remains the central if not the non-negotiable issue.

Democrats, at the insistence of their traditional labor backers, want to continue the present practice of letting union political action committees decide how to spend the contributions.

With that background, the committee will come together at 10 a.m. Wednesday for a session that could determine whether the special session will get a bill or will put off the issue until the next regular session of the General Assembly starting Jan. 2.

Nixon held two sessions Monday — a breakfast with the Republican Coordinating Committee and an evening meeting with five conservative southern Democrats and an independent. Another evening meeting was arranged for today, for Republican House members.

Nixon also announced Monday he would produce subpoenaed tape recordings as well as subpoenaed portions of his personal diary. He said this was an attempt to dispel doubts about "just what happened" to a pair of unrecorded Watergate conversations.

At the same time he said he could not locate a dictation machine recording of an April 15 meeting with former White House counsel John W. Dean III. A tape recording of the meeting has been subpoenaed but the White House says that recording is one of two subpoenaed but never made.

In federal court, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica set Nov. 20 as the date by which Nixon's lawyers must deliver the spokesman Robert J. McCloskey refused to elaborate.

Kissinger arrived an hour and a half late for his meeting with Chou today. There was speculation that he had been working on the communique that he and his hosts are expected to issue before he takes off for Japan Wednesday morning.

The secretary of state, who is the grandson of a German farmer, started the day with a visit to a model commune seven miles from Peking where he watched the forced feeding of ducks and kibitzed with oldtimers playing Chinese chess.

Kissinger, accompanied by foreign minister Chi Peng-fei, spent more than an hour examining the showplace of Mao Tse-tung's agrarian revolution. They saw an experiment involving the streamlining of a duck's life to 65 days, an oldage home for childless workers in their 70s and 80s who otherwise would have to fend for themselves and the rough but clean quarters of a three-generation farm family.

Formed in 1958, the commune has a population of 39,000 and produces more than 80 varieties of vegetables. There are six factories on the grounds making farm implements and taking care of repairs.

Farmers need fuel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite America's energy crisis, farmers may need at least 4 per cent more fuel next year as they try hiking production to meet demands for food, Agriculture Department officials have told Congress.

Department officials Glenn Weir and Nick Smith told the House Agriculture Committee Monday that acreage to be planted in crops next year could be 12 million acres over this year's figures — suggesting a 1974 fuel requirement boost of at least 4 per cent.

Weir said the department is launching "an all-out effort to assure that agricultural production is not impaired because of lack of fuel at a time when we are urging our farmers to increase their production to meet market demands."

The Agriculture Department officials testified that current supplies of gasoline, diesel fuel and propane for farm use are generally adequate for the rest of 1973, with a few localized exceptions.

But Weir said agricultural interests are "going to have to fight for all the fuel they get" in the future.

Canadian oil to keep flowing

TORONTO (AP) — Surplus Canadian oil will still be exported and Canada will not stop oil shipments to the United States to appease Arab states, foreign secretary Mitchell Sharp said Monday.

In an interview following a Canadian Club luncheon, Sharp said he told George Ball, former U.S. undersecretary of state, that Canada would not appease the Arabs by cutting off southbound shipments.

In a speech at the luncheon, Ball said that if Canada halted oil exports to his country, the United States might cut off Canadian supplies flowing through its territory — for example, at the Portland, Maine, terminal of the pipeline that supplies crude oil to Montreal.

Ball said official statements indicated Canada might be bowing to Arab threats in order to appear neutral and ensure its own continued supply of oil from the Middle East.

subpoenaed and volunteered White House tapes and other materials. Sirica also told lawyers to be ready to take steps to empanel a group of experts to report on questions "relating to any evidence of tampering or alteration of the White House tapes."

Nixon has agreed that outside experts should examine the tapes for evidence of alteration.

He also said that in lieu of the dictation machine recording he would give to the court "my original hand-written notes" made April 15 during the meeting with Dean.

Dean has told the Senate Watergate committee that Nixon during the meeting admitted discussing executive clemency as part of the Watergate coverup.

The non-Watergate related matters that Nixon said he would confront included the ITT antitrust settlement, campaign contributions by milk producers and Nixon's personal financial dealings.

In other Watergate developments Monday:

—A House Judiciary subcommittee approved a bill calling for appointment of a special Watergate prosecutor by the federal court. Nixon has replaced the fired Archibald Cox with Texas lawyer Leon Jaworski.

—Vice President-designate Gerald Ford said in a New York speech that Nixon is innocent of wrongdoing in Watergate and will prove his innocence. He said Nixon will not resign.

—Also in New York, Cox told the New York City Bar Association he was denied files on a campaign contribution from the milk industry. He also said Nixon told him "Keep the hell out of that," while Cox was investigating the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

—In Los Angeles, a lawyer for Egil Krogh Jr., the man who headed the White House "plumbers," said Krogh wants access to files he kept at the White House even if he has to subpoena Nixon to get them. Krogh is charged in the Ellsberg break-in.

State School board seeks fuel priority

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state Board of Education has urged state and federal officials to give schools top priority in any fuel rationing or allocation.

And the board, meeting here Monday, called on Dr. Martin W. Essex, Ohio's superintendent of education, to cooperate with government agencies "in the formulation of policy regarding energy usage by schools."

The board said for its part, it will use "any authority which it has in securing full cooperation of all the schools of Ohio to share in meeting the demands of any crisis in concert with action involving all other sectors of the economy."

The board spent much of the meeting on energy problems, but on other matters:

—Honored Ebraska D. Watts, a teacher at Chamber Elementary School in East Cleveland, as Ohio's Teacher of the Year for 1974.

—Agreed to fund 545 new special education classes, bringing to 7,389 the number of such classes available to young people in Ohio.

—Accepted two work-study grants, one of $7,088 for schools in Lancaster, the other of $9,450 for schools in Akron.

The federal money will help provide in-school employment for disadvantaged young people.

—Okayed the transfer of 18 acres of land from the Greenhills-Forest Park City School District in Hamilton County to the Wyoming City School District.

The board, dealing with the energy crisis, adopted guidelines for Ohio's public schools to follow in conserving energy.

The board said the guidelines, drafted by the Ohio Department of Education, are designed to offer "practical suggestions on reducing energy consumption through more efficient use of heating, lighting and pupil transportation."

Commissioners also tentatively agreed not to turn on the Christmas lighting display until Dec. 14. The lights will burn from 6:30 until 9:30 each evening.

A bid of $10,696 submitted by Motorola Communications and Electronics, Inc., for a new communications control center to be used in the Fayette County Sheriff's Department was accepted by the board. Installation, which will begin in 90 to 120 days, will be handled by Boylan and Cannon Electronics, Inc., 135 N. Fayette St.

The Lisk Construction Co., Washington C.H., was awarded a contract for new flooring in four storage rooms on the third floor of the Courthouse. The price of the flooring job is $2,000.

The board adopted a resolution to cooperate with the Ohio Department of Transportation to replace a bridge spanning Sugar Creek on Staunton-Sugar Grove Road and the construction of required approaches and approved grade and alignment. The request, submitted by Bernard B. Hurst Jr., district deputy director, also asked commissioners to cooperate in improving a 0.95-mile stretch of Staunton-Sugar Grove Road.

In other matters, the board authorized Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagner, Paul Junk, Richard Keiser and John F. Wagner to attend the annual county engineers convention in Columbus Dec. 3-5.

Stock list down again

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices continued to move lower today, extending the losses of the last two sessions, which analysts said had resulted from energy fears.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, down more than 34 points in Friday and Monday trading, was off 10.53 at 887.12 at noon.

Declining issues led advances more than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was active, and the ticker tape lagged behind several times during the morning.

The Big Board's composite index of some 1,500 common stocks gave up .27 to 55.69 at noon.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index dropped .53 at 102.61 at noon.

"There's a feeling that we're getting past the hysteria, but the energy shortage is still a cloud over the market," said Charles M. Lewis of Winkler, Cantor, Pomboy & Co.

Analysts noted that the market looked better across the board today than it had in the last two sessions and that there was some buying in certain depressed glammers.

A clearing trend with southwesterly winds is expected to allow temperatures to climb into the 60s in Ohio Tuesday afternoon, but some showers will develop along and ahead of an oncoming cold front which will move across the state Wednesday.

The morning weather map showed high pressure centered over the North Carolina coast. It is beginning to settle slowly southward. A low pressure system and associated cold front was entering the western parts of the Dakotas and Nebraska. This cold front will move rapidly eastward and reach the western Great Lakes area Wednesday morning.

Temperatures early Tuesday were in the low 50s in the southeast and parts of eastern Ohio and in the 40s over the rest of the state.

There will be a chance of rain in Ohio Thursday and Friday followed by generally cloudy skies on Saturday. A cooling trend during the period will see highs in the 50s and 60s Thursday falling off to the 40s by Saturday. Lows Thursday in the 40s will drop to the 30s by Saturday.

Northwest takes brunt of weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Strong winds and thundershowers fanned out over the northwestern quarter of the nation today while most other areas enjoyed Indian summer.

Winds gusting over 50 miles per hour whipped Utah, Wyoming and northern Colorado, and high-wind warnings were issued for northern Colorado and the western half of South Dakota for today.

Showers dampened areas from the Pacific Coast to the northern Plains, but rainfall amounts generally were less than half an inch overnight.

Gale warnings were posted along the northern Pacific Coast as a new storm system approached.

A cold front moving through Wyoming and Colorado dropped temperatures into the 30s and 40s from the 50s.

Overnight lows in the 40s and 50s were common across a broad stretch of the midcontinent after highs in the 50s and 60s Monday.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 30 at Minot, N.D., to 73 at Miami.

Harris Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — The latest Louis Harris poll gives President Nixon a 58 per cent rating for good to excellent performance in working for world peace but only a 32 per cent positive rating for the over-all job he is doing as President.

Results of the survey, released Monday, showed that while 32 per cent of those polled rated Nixon's over-all performance as good to excellent, 64 per cent said it was fair to poor. The remaining 4 per cent were undecided.

Israeli generals in verbal battle

TEL AVIV (AP) — The guns are silent along the Suez Canal and the Golan Heights, but Israel's army is convulsed by an overdose of political recriminations brought on by the initial setbacks of the October war.

Until the war, army censorship did not allow any newspaper to quote a soldier — general as well as corporal — on his political views. But this policy has faltered in the welter of ac-

Map plans for energy conservation

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Cincinnati, which has instituted a number of energy saving measures, plans to ask the federal Environmental Protection Agency to back off on strong anti-pollution measures.

City Manager E. Robert Turner suggested to city council that an application be made to the EPA to delay for a year an order requiring mandatory inspections of all cars to comply with emission standards.

The EPA said Cincinnati must reduce its hydrocarbons emitted by cars by 43.1 per cent. The emissions are blamed for pollution here.

The regulations become effective July 1, 1975.

Turner said the delay would reduce the emissions because more cars will have anti-pollution equipment by 1976.

Other area facilities Monday announced energy conservation programs.

University of Cincinnati officials said heat and lighting will be reduced at the campus to conserve energy and expenses.

In addition, they said the school's computer is developing a car pool system for the estimated 15,000 students who live off campus.

The university also will abandon plans to bolster its coal heating system with oil, the official said.

In Middletown, Ohio, school officials urged students to ride buses instead of driving, teachers to form car pools and ordered no windows opened as heating is cut.

Franklin and Lebanon, Ohio, are scrapping plans for outdoor Christmas lighting.

Four major downtown Cincinnati department stores abandoned plans for normal exterior Christmas displays spokesmen said. They said they said they also planned to turn down thermostats inside the stores.

Kathleen Kennedy to be married

WASHINGTON (AP) — The eldest daughter of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is getting married Saturday.

Kathleen Kennedy, 22, and David Lee Townsend, 25, will be wed at Holy Trinity Church here. A reception follows the ceremony at the Kennedy family's home in McLean, Va.

The bride-to-be is a senior at Radcliffe College. Her future husband is working on an American history doctorate at Harvard. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Raymond Townsend of Timonium, Md.

Witches' wedding smashing success - bonfire and all

LODI, Ohio (AP) — It was a devilish undertaking, but the wedding came off on schedule — bonfire and all.

And the bride-to-be, 40-year-old Betty Haase, said there wasn't as much significance to the witches' wedding as met the eye.

"It runs in the family," she said, dismissing her supernatural powers. "But you better go easy on that," she cautioned. "Some of the family frowns on it."

While guests huddled around a bonfire later, she and her groom, Dennis Skitzki, were married. The ceremony was performed by a Unitarian minister, the Rev. David H. Cole.

"For some reason, Unitarian ministers are the only ones who don't mind," Mrs. Skitzki said, puzzled. "After all, we believe in God and everything, or at least in a supreme being."

The main difference between witches and other people has more to do with believing in reincarnation and the cusations over who was to blame for the surprise achieved by the Egyptian and Syrian attack and the Arabs' initial success.

The battle of words could affect the outcome of the national elections at the end of December.

The key figures in the battle of words have been Maj. Gen. Ariel Sharon, who led the daring Israeli thrust across the Suez Canal to encircle the Egyptian 3rd Army; Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-lev, the assistant chief of staff who gave his name to the canal defense line that the Egyptians overran, and the chief of staff, Lt. Gen. David Elazar, who has been trying to hold the line for Premier Golda Meir's government.

Sharon in peacetime is a right-wing politician, and his exploit on the battlefield indicated he might take some votes away from Mrs. Meir's socialist Labor party in the election. Then he told an American newsmen his superiors had not sent adequate reinforcements to bolster the spearhead he put across the canal.

Elazar angrily retorted: "It may be less glamorous to fight to hold a bridgehead than to drive your tanks into Africa."

Bar-lev, a cabinet minister and supporter of Mrs. Meir who was returned to uniform for the war, was the next to join the fray. Possibly nettled by the comparison between the Barlev Line and France's useless Maginot Line in World War II, he wrote in a local newspaper that the army was totally unready for the war and that there was insufficient armor and artillery behind the canal line.

This was considered an oblique attack on Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, whose political views Bar-lev is known to oppose, as well as a defense of the Bar-lev Line.

Lakewood safest city in nation?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Lakewood Police Chief Charles Petro says it took teamwork to bring the suburb a top rating as perhaps the safest city in the nation.

And Petro includes on the "team" a cooperative citizenry as well as a "good, hard working department."

Lakewood was at the top, and another Cleveland suburb, Euclid, was sixth on the safest cities list put out by David Franke, author of "Safe Places." Franke prepared the list on the basis of crime statistics fed into a computer. The results were released Monday by Esquire magazine.

"We have the type of citizen who helps the police... who is not prone to crime," Petro said.

The chief said the police auxiliary also helped curb crime.

While agreeing that "we have a safe place to live...and a good, hard-working department," Petro said Franke's list may not be quite up to date.

"I believe he was using 1971 statistics," Petro said, adding that the 1972 figures might show that Euclid had edged ahead of Lakewood.

However, he said he appreciates "the fact that people say we're No. 1."

ability to "see" things than anything else, she said.

Mrs. Skitzki said her first husband was a warlock — the male counterpart of a witch. Skitzki, on the other hand, is only an automobile mechanic.

But "he's very sexy," Mrs. Skitzki confided.

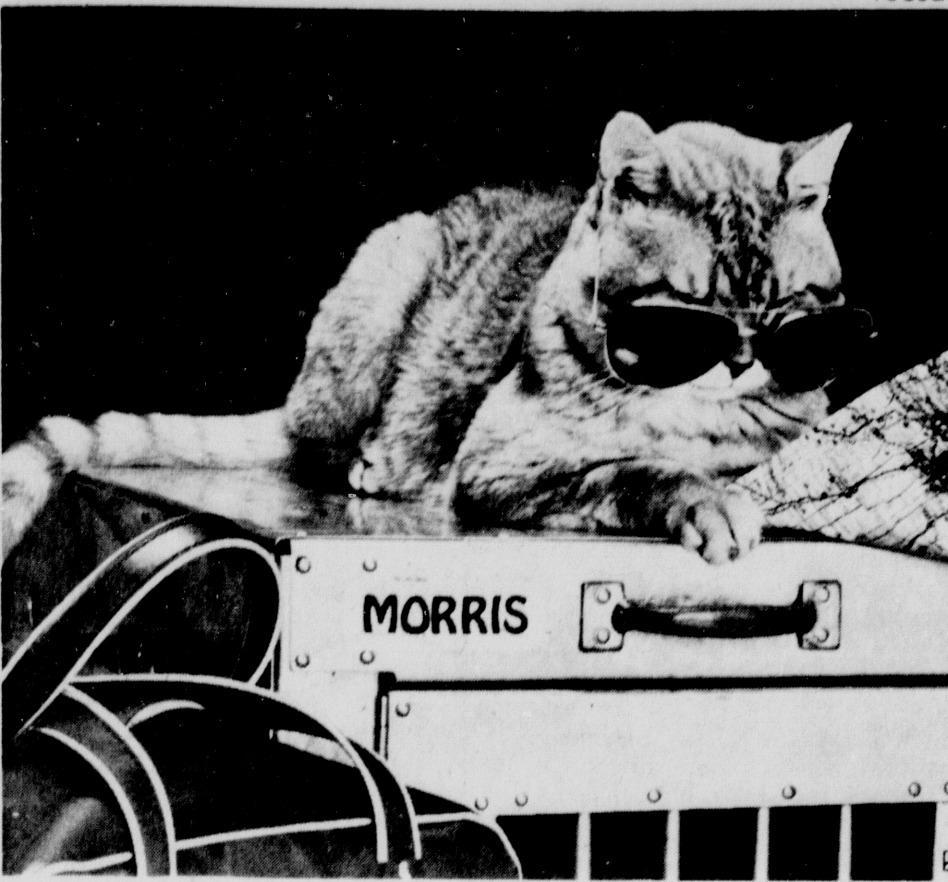

The bride made shirts for the groom and the minister to wear. And she wore a dress of her own making — green wool, with lace embroidery.

"No, there's no significance in that either," she said. "I just wanted to dress up."

After the ceremony, the Skitzkis and their guests gathered around a huge whiskey crock.

"There's no significance at all in that, unless you don't like whiskey sours," she told a reporter covering the event.

And tell your photographer we won't put a curse on him when he gets here, and he can have all the whiskey sours he wants."

Annual Teen Talent Show scheduled for mid-April

The annual Teen Talent Show, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club here, will be held April 19.

The date was set at the club's monthly board meeting Monday night following dinner in Lafayette Inn, but the selection of the place and other details were left to be worked out later.

The annual Christmas party will be held Dec. 17 in the First Presbyterian Church, the board announced.

The "Share the Treats" committee reported that excess Halloween treats, which the children who receive them had left at the schools to be shared with others, were distributed by Kiwanians to 12 families (with a total of 66 children), to six nursing homes and to children at the Orient State Hospital.

After Gary Smith explained the changes in the by-laws, the club voted acceptance. A $25 contribution to CROP also was authorized.

The meeting was conducted by President George Gibbs, and since it was devoted to Kiwanis business, there was no program and no guests.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States continues to be the largest foreign supplier of wheat to the Peoples Republic of China this fiscal year, despite recent large sales by Australia and Canada, the Agriculture Department said today.

Dairy Federation loses bid to halt butter importation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of dairy farmers has been stalled in a move to prevent the Nixon administration from opening the door to more imported milk products.

The National Milk Producers Federation had sought a temporary restraining order to prevent importation of 56 million pounds of butter and 22.6 million pounds of butter substitutes.

On Monday, however, Judge John L. Smith of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia dismissed the petition without comment.

The boost in butter imports was announced Oct. 31 by President Nixon as an effort to help replenish declining U.S. dairy supplies.

The federation also had asked the court to approve countervailing imports tariffs on the butter to offset export subsidies paid by the European Economic Community.

Federation officials said the subsidies amounted to 29 to 39 cents per pound and the United States should require similar import charges in the absence of a total ban.

With the court's dismissal, however, the way was cleared for all the imports to come into the country. The federation said, in fact, about 17 million pounds of the European quota had been delivered by Nov. 7.

Further, the federation said, the entire new quota of 28.5 million pounds of butter from New Zealand — which does not subsidize exports — had been received by U.S. importers.

For many years, the annual butter import quotas has been 707,000 pounds.

Hearth fire boom

One pleasant side effect of the fuel oil shortage is a prospective boom in hearth fires. There are indications that Americans are going to put their fireplaces to more use this winter than they have in a long time.

One hears reports of woodcutters working overtime to meet demand for firewood. The nation's largest manufacturer of artificial fireplace logs is operating 24 hours a day and expecting sales to be more than double last year's.

Householders all over the country are putting long unused fireplaces in order, or having new ones installed. There is a rush to clear chimney flues of accumulated soot and birds' nests.

To all of which we say: Praise be! For there is nothing more delightful than a hearth fire on a snappy fall or deep winter day. And as a bonus it does provide welcome heat when fuel oil supplies run low.

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

A vote to keep our system

So President Nixon should resign. Given the cockeyed pace of events in Washington, I wouldn't be surprised to see him out of office by the time this column can be sent through the mails.

U.S. House of Representatives Speaker Carl Albert, of course, would be the President — the delay in confirming Jerry Ford as Vice President would take care of that.

Albert, who has a positive dread of being tapped by History for White House duty, could have a fatal stroke or something (I'm not wishing it on him, I'm only trying to extrapolate the succession of present lunacies into the future), and Sen. Jim Eastland would be sworn in as our Chief Executive.

At this point, it would be goodnight to detente with the Soviets (Eastland doesn't want to get along with Moscow), Georgia's Lester Maddox will be in line to succeed Kissinger as Secretary of State, and you take it from there.

EVEN IF Jerry Ford could be confirmed as Vice President before the New York Times, Time magazine, the Denver Post, and Bill Buckley's National Review have succeeded in getting Richard Nixon to take a job as real estate loan expert in Bebe Rebozo's bank, the disruption of our national psyche could be catastrophic.

It is not just a question of disposing of a President who has lost his sense of timing when it comes to defending himself against his domestic critics. The ousting of Nixon would reduce the U.S. republic, in which the voters are entitled to take counsel with themselves every four years, into something on the order of Chile or the Argentine, or Venezuela in the days before President Betancourt established an all-time record by being the first elected Venezuelan chief executive ever to complete his term.

We have been tending that way for some time now. The students, taking a tip from banana-republic politics, formed a campus anvil chorus that enabled a lot of self-righteous flaks for Eugene McCarthy to push Lyndon Johnson into retirement and sabotage Hubert Humphrey's Presidential campaign. The gang in the streets of Chicago gave us Nixon, and what the gang giveth, its spiritual successors can take away.

From now on no President of the United States will be permitted to finish out a term if he fails to please the New York Times and the anchor men of the big TV studios. Hell hath no fury like a broadcaster scorned.

In a federal republic of 50 states, all of which have some local autonomy, a coup d'etat on the Latin American order is impossible. The Army can hardly take over while 50 National Guard units patrol the state capitals. But there are substitutes for a Seven Days in May seizure of the Oval Room in Washington, D.C.

LBJ was howled into retirement. Nixon, in turn, is being howled into a state of mind (and emotions) in which he could be brought to say to hell with it

BUT REALLY, what has he done that is ground for impeachment? Plenty, perhaps, but if it happens to be true that he is guilty of crimes, we do not yet know (as of the moment of writing this column) just what the crimes are.

Nixon has been stupid in his press relations, but this is not a punishable offense. He has been a deplorable judge of character, but so were Presidents U.S. Grant and Warren Gamaliel Harding.

He hasn't been able to get along with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, but Woodrow Wilson did a worse job with the Senate when he was trying to sell the country on the Covenant of the League of Nations. Herbert Hoover had his Phase I and Phase II when he jumped from laissez faire to full power for the Reconstruction Finance Corp. and the Farm Board, but the nation and its press magnanimously let him finish out his term. The voters put Nixon in office for a second four-year term, and if the U.S. is to keep its Presidential system it is the voters who are entitled to pick his successor.

I haven't liked Nixon's domestic policies, and I have my fingers crossed on Kissinger and detente. If there were to be an election tomorrow, and Sen. Henry Jackson of the State of Washington were the Democratic Presidential candidate I'd gladly toss in my Republican credentials to vote for the sagacious Scoop.

But until he has been proved guilty of a crime Richard Nixon should be allowed his three more years in office. There could be a penalty in this, but it would be a worse penalty if the U.S. were to descend even for high-minded reasons to the politics of a Uganda or a Bolivia.

I wasn't born in a banana republic, and I won't want to die in one. Please, Mr. Richard Nixon, won't you stick it out?

draft. I sat down to get revenge. Unfortunately I used the term "mobile home," which technically is a house weighing perhaps 15,000 pounds, and the wrath of the "mobile home" industry descended upon my head.

But dozens of readers, who knew exactly what I had in mind, wrote to tell me of their near-misses and to echo my plea for strict laws regulating the behavior of cars towing boats, trailers, motor homes (now I got it right), and other assorted highway hazards.

Now it has happened again and I am thinking of cancelling all those subscriptions to American, British, French, Hong Kong and other journals. Why sit up and laboriously read the Burr Case when I can read a good mystery?

It began when I learned to my delight that Educational Television was putting on a series of mystery shows, two of which featured one of my favorite detectives, Lord Peter Wimsey.

My wife and I cherish good mysteries the way a gourmet appreciates good food. (We have a collection going back 25 years which is very select indeed; I suspect each has been read three or four times.) We keep an eye out for new ones in the A category, but they are few and far between. We ruthlessly dispose of the bums.

FOR YEARS I have complained about the way both Hollywood and TV ignored the superb detecting of Wimsey, Hercule Poirot, Alan Grant and, of course, Inspector Maigret, but always in the family circle. This time I wrote a column. Now, from all over the country, the mail is piling up, and my wife is out looking for several authors that were highly recommended.

At the same time, though, it does set one to wondering. Maybe the political columnist is a species that has not learned it is extinct.

The Yanomamo people of Venezuela attribute all sickness to harmful magic or to hekura, a spirit sent from the enemy. To effect a cure, a shaman exercises the invisible agent or extracts it forcibly from its victim's body.

More air shuttles needed?

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans need more air shuttle service to fill the gaps in commercial runs to the state's smaller communities, an official of the Ohio Department of Transportation says.

John Cornett of the Division of Aviation says he foresees the day when fleets of small twin-engine planes will provide the necessary link between the smaller communities and the major airports around the state.

Cornett said, "The twin-engine planes carrying 40 to 50 people would pick up passengers at the smaller airports and ferry them to a major airport for connection with a large commercial airline."

The need for this kind of service is increasing, he said.

"The large airlines have provided excellent service over the years, but costs have risen to the point that they cannot afford the financial burden of the shorter runs," he said. "They have been relying on the long hauls instead."

And he said, "The larger airlines cannot go into the smaller airports with the 727s and 747s. But these airports can take the smaller twin-engine planes used in shuttle service."

He said Ohio's system of seven major airports, 84 county fields and 63 private operations makes more air shuttle service a real possibility.

"Ohio has more good airports per square mile than any other state in the union," Cornett said. "We have an average of one airport within every 25-mile radius."

The major airports are in Cleveland, Toledo, Akron-Canton, Youngstown, Columbus, Dayton and the Cincinnati area. The other airports have at least 3,500 feet of paved runway. The only counties without public airports are Lawrence, Hocking, Paulding and Washington.

Cornett said the state's goal could be reached. "We want to see every Ohioan have air service available in the least amount of time. We want everybody to be able to use aviation," he said.

But he said there are problems ahead.

"The civil Aeronautics Board is just starting to get into this area," he said. "Presently, there is no route protection for people trying to run the shuttle services. If some protection does not develop, then the lack of regulation could depress the business."

He said there are about four shuttle services operating in Ohio now. They fly out of Cleveland, Galion, Lima and Hamilton.

Cornett said he hopes a $399,000 study underway by Dalton, Dalton, Little and Newport of Cleveland for the state aviation division will provide Ohio with a clear path in fostering air shuttle service.

The study will be completed next summer and will cover state needs through the year 2000, he said.

'Newsmen's privilege' given public backing

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The latest Gallup Poll shows an increase in the number of Americans who think newspaper reporters should not be required to reveal their news sources in court testimony.

Sixty-two per cent of those polled in the nationwide survey said "newsmen's privilege" should be protected, compared with 57 per cent in a similar survey in November 1972.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Hostess' invitation

impossible to swallow

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have socialized with the same group of married couples for about 30 years.

Recently one of the women called to invite my daughter, son in law, and me to a supper at her home. She made it a point NOT to mention my husband, so I mentioned him. She said, "Well, maybe Louis had better not come because a few of the women have told me that it spoils their appetites to watch him eat." (My husband has Parkinson's disease and he shakes a lot, but I always help him when he eats.)

I told this woman that since she is the hostess she can invite anyone she wants to her home, and then I asked her which women she had reference to.

Of course she wouldn't tell me, so I stayed home, and so did my daughter and son in law.

I have decided to wash my hands of that whole group. Do you think I am wrong?

MRS. L.S.

DEAR MRS. S.: I'd have washed my hands of the hostess, but until I learned who (if any others) shared her views, I wouldn't have written off the entire group.

DEAR ABBY: My mother in law and I have never gotten along. There have been bitter feelings between us for as long as I can remember. We are now at the point where we don't see each other at all. My husband goes along with this arrangement because he also has been hurt by her.

My problem, or our problem: How do I explain to my children that they never see their grandmother because three adults can't sit down and work out their problems, and no one wants to make the first move?

PARTLY GUILTY

DEAR PARTLY: It would be far less easier for YOU to make the first move than try to explain it to your children. Your signature as well as your obvious desire to solve the problem shows you to be an intelligent and reasonable woman. Life is short. Make it sweet.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please print an open letter to some friends of ours? I'm sure it could apply to many of your readers:

DEAR BOB AND RUTH: (not your real names.)

I write this out of concern for your health and my own. You impressed us as being funloving, intelligent people who would not intentionally hurt anybody. But you were both apparently unaware that your smoke was extremely irritating to me. I am allergic to tobacco smoke. This morning I have a raw throat and irritated sinuses, which will take several days to clear up.

If you had asked politely: "Does anybody mind if we smoke?" I would have said: "Yes, I am sorry, but I'm allergic to tobacco smoke. Thank you for asking."

But you gave me no such opportunity. So I had only three choices: To leave, to stay and suffer (which I did), or to make an issue of it by pointing out your thoughtlessness in the presence of others.

I did not want to embarrass you or the Smiths, since it was their party, so I suffered silently and hoped you would eventually notice that I was trying desperately to wave away the smoke and escape its poisonous effects.

Perhaps the next time you are with nonsmokers—whether they call attention to their discomfort or not—you will be more considerate.

Please believe me when I say that my husband and I found you a delightful couple with whom we would be happy to share a smokeless evening.

K.J.G.

DEAR K.J.G.: If those are your real initials, you've sent up some effective smoke signals.

HAUNTED WITH MONEY PROBLEMS?

Yes, Halloween is over, but you may be convinced that some hobgoblin is haunting your budget. Your money just keeps vanishing! Budget ghosts are just as hard to pin down as the Halloween variety but watch for these clues — bills that can't be paid when they come due, using credit each month to stretch your pay.

To solve the mystery, sit down with paper, pencil, the checkbook, a calendar, and any other records of receipts you may have. Try to account for as much of the last pay check as you can. Next, try your hand at a whole year — that time span takes in most of the special expenses you meet during the year. In this process, perhaps some ghosts will dissolve and turn out to be investments in family well being.

The thing that may tell the tale is the amount of money that's unaccounted for. If a family treats all money that doesn't go for bills as leftover spendable money, important things can be forgotten. Items like insurance, medical emergencies, new cars, or even Christmas can hit a family budget hard.

If you think too much money is slipping through the cracks, try closing the cracks for awhile. Set aside each month a certain amount of cash for everyday needs. Put the rest of the money in a safe place — like the bank. With the money out of sight, you won't feel richer than you really are!

Your pencil-and-paper work may show you the presence of other ghosts in your budget. Perhaps your family really is spending too much for food or housing or transportation in relation to family needs. Looking at actual expenses may reveal what spending really is out of proportion to income and needs.

Your detective work with records may solve the mystery of where the money goes. The next step to get rid of budget ghosts is to face reality — think through your family's needs and goals and set priorities.

To help you work out a record plan that fits your family spending be sure to ask for free leaflets from our office. Available are "Managing Your Money", "Money In Your Life", "Consumer Credit" and "Planning Family Spending". Call 335-1150 or drop a note to our office at 319 South Fayette Street, Washington C.H. TOO MANY BILLS AND NOT ENOUGH MONEY?

We're going to give you some positive suggestions to help you start living without your financial goals. Do join us this Wednesday, November 14 from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Extension Office Auditorium.

SAVE ENERGY — SAVE MONEY. Cooler fall weather increases our interest in the energy crisis. We'll all need to do our part to conserve all types of energy this year. One way to conserve energy — and save money, too! — is by preventing heat loss from our house.

Quite often, we waste or lose heat from a house without even realizing it. For example, if the fireplace damper is left open when the fireplace is not in use, much precious furnace heat goes up the chimney. If your fireplace has no damper, install one or you might install glass doors on the fireplace to cut heat loss.

Three other areas of the house have flues or vent pipes to the outside — the kitchen, bathroom, and laundry. These vents should have dampers that open when the fan is operating and close when it stops. If there is no damper or it becomes stuck open, much cold air can enter the house.

Another way to reduce heat loss is to give some special attention to windows. Windows make up a good-sized area of the exterior walls. Air leakage can occur around the frame and the sash. And a single layer of glass offers very little insulation to restrict heat flow. Caulk cracks around the frame, weatherstrip the loose sash, add storm windows and doors — and you'll cut energy use about 12 per cent in heating a one-story house.

If you can't afford to place storm sash on all windows, put them on the side that gets most of the winter wind. Put them on rooms used for living and working, rather than bedrooms. You don't have to put storm sash on all windows at one time to get some benefits in reduced fuel costs and a more comfortable house.

Many homes are not adequately insulated in the attic area. There can be considerable heat loss from the living area of the house, through the ceiling, and into the attic. By adding 6 inches of insulation to an uninsulated attic floor in a one-story house, you will save about 20 per cent on your fuel bill. If you can't or don't want to insulate the attic floor, place insulation between the wall studs and the roof rafters — you'll save almost as much fuel.

To keep the heat in this winter, keep dampers closed when not in use, add storm windows and doors, and insulate the attic. You'll save energy and money.

Set districts for welfare

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Welfare Director Charles Bates said Monday night that his agency will be ready to reorganize into 11 districts by next July 1.

Bates told the opening session of the Ohio Welfare Conference here that the department will have guidelines for its reorganization ready by spring.

The Welfare Department and three other state agencies are to reorganize into 11 service districts by mid-1974 under a plan announced earlier by Gov. John Gilligan.

Cleveland, which has the highest welfare case load in the state, will probably be divided in half, Bates said.

Other departments involved in the reorganization plan are the Department of Mental Health and Retardation, the Department of Health, and the Rehabilitation Services Commission.

Money Does Matter . . .

By David C. Six

You'll Most Likely

Get Just What

You Really Want!

Don't let the term "Commercial Bank" confuse you!

There was a time when commercial bankers only loaned money to business men. They still do, but they are now very much in the personal loan business, among other things.

Some banks would do much more business in small personal loans if some people were not still somewhat apprehensive about their welcome in a bank when only a small personal loan was needed.

Believe me, do not be concerned! If you have a steady source of income and a good credit record, your likelihood of getting what you want is excellent.

Banks today are making 9 out of 10 loans requested — and often at much lower cost than available anywhere else!

Congratulations to the Washington Court House and Miami Trace Bands and Choirs for their excellent joint half time show at the inter-county football game.

The sportsmanship and fair play of the game made for an enjoyable evening.

Best Wishes to all elected to positions of authority in last Tuesday's election.

Your financial needs, large or small, are always considered personal and confidential at The First National Bank of Washington Court House.

And, our advice and counsel are always without charge or obligation — part of being a complete service bank!

Spend 10 minutes in the country for $2.60 or less.

All rates plus tax.

A 10-minute out-of-state call to anywhere in the United States (except Alaska and Hawaii) never costs more than $2.60, plus tax. Provided you follow a few simple rules.

Just dial long distance calls yourself, without operator assistance. And make your calls between 5-11 P.M., Sunday through Friday. (Rates are even lower after 11:00 P.M. and on weekends.)

That's all it takes to have amazingly inexpensive long distance calls.

And if you know the cost is low, you'll probably enjoy the calls more. Because you can spend more of the call talking and less of it looking at the clock.

So the next time you call long distance, call the inexpensive way.

That way you can be a lot more relaxed while you're spending time in the country.

Ohio Bell

Use Your Phone For All It's Worth.

Dial-it-yourself rates apply on self-dialed calls (without operator assistance) from residence and business phones anywhere in the U.S. (except Alaska) and on calls placed with an operator where direct dialing facilities are not available. Dial-it-yourself rates do not apply to person-to-person, coin, hotel guest, credit card, collect calls and on calls charged to another number.

lights depend on power situation

Whether the Christmas decorations here will be lighted this year, depends on circumstances as they develop in the energy shortage — in this case the availability of electrical energy — Edward Fisher, chairman of the project this year, says. He commented that he has had numerous inquiries on what the effect of the energy shortage will have on the decorations, but observed that only time will provide the answer.

Fisher pointed out that the city's central business district will be bright with Christmas decorations, as it has been in the past, because they will be colorful, traditional and symbolic, light or no light.

He also pointed out that plans are progressing for the Christmas parade, although it has a limited budget. He added that any contributions will be welcome and may be made at the Chamber of Commerce office.

New U.S.-China developments seen

TOKYO (AP) — Judging from opening statements on both sides, some important new development in Chinese-American relations can be expected from U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's visit to Peking.

Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fei in a toast at the banquet he gave Saturday night said Kissinger was in Peking for the sixth time "to exchange views with us on the normalization of Sino-American relations and issues of common interest."

Kissinger in reply noted his last visit in February 1972, when President Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai agreed to set up liaison offices in Peking and Washington. He added: "We are determined to do much more and to complete the process that we started two years ago as rapidly as possible."

That "much more" could include an announcement that the two governments have resolved the question of Chinese financial assets frozen in the United States and claims for American property taken over by the Communists and that they have agreed to establish reciprocal trade missions.

This would give the growing U.S.-China trade a shot in the arm. But it would not put the two countries much closer to diplomatic recognition, the goal Kissinger obviously referred to.

Withdrawal of some or all of the 9,000 U.S. troops on Taiwan could be another by-product of Kissinger's visit. The United States has promised to pull 3,000 out, and the communists Nixon and Chou signed in 1972 said all of them would be removed when the situation warranted.

This is one of the major steps the Chinese regard as a preliminary to an exchange of ambassadors. The other, more important one is for the United States to break diplomatic relations with President Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government on Taiwan.

The Nationalists continue to invoke the long years of American friendship and support for Chiang. But privately they see the handwriting on the wall. Their newspapers are preparing the public for a final break.

A rupture in the formal ties between Washington and Taipei would not mean an end to trade and other exchanges between the two. Other nations that have taken the same route have markedly increased their trade with Taiwan. Since Japan broke relations with the Nationalist government last year, some 400,000 Japanese have visited Taiwan.

Nixon campaign leader charged

CHICAGO (AP) — The man who managed the President's 1968 campaign in Illinois has been named in a federal indictment charging him with a $1 million fraud scheme involving banks and a New York City credit union.

The 23-count indictment against William H. Rentschler, 48, was made public Monday. It charged that Rentschler fraudulently got loans from 27 banks and the Aetna Business Credit Inc. of New York City. The loans were intended for himself and corporations of which he was an officer or a stockholder, the government said. Rentschler claims he is innocent.

Hospital Auxiliary tours new facilities

The bi-monthly meeting of the Fayette County Memorial Hospital Auxiliary was held in the conference room at the hospital Monday. Mrs. Ralph Child conducted the business session.

The new slate of officers for 1974 is: Mrs. Child, president; Mrs. Marjorie Evans, president-elect; Mrs. Robert Heiny, vice president; Mrs. Ralph Gebhart, recording secretary; Mrs. O.W. Landrum, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Robert Woodmansee, treasurer.

Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator, advised Auxiliary members of the part they will take in case of a fire or disaster. Mrs. Jean Coe, director of the hospital's school of licensed practical nursing, took the group on a tour of new classrooms.

Announcement was made that Kunz and the hospital trustees will entertain, at a recognition dinner, the Auxiliary members who have accumulated 200 hours or more of service at 7 p.m. Nov. 29 at the Terrace Lounge.

Bishop Issenman ill with heart condition

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cincinnati Catholic Archbishop Joseph L. Bernardin says that Cleveland Bishop Clarence G. Issenman, 66, is suffering from a heart condition that "limits his ability."

Auxiliary Cleveland Bishop William M. Cosgrove said, however, that while the bishop's health prevents him from working a full day he is efficient while working.

Dispute boiling over Paint Creek development plan

HILLSBORO — An Ohio senator and a Ohio Department of Natural Resources official differ sharply on plans for the Paint Creek Reservoir, located south of Greenfield.

Marvin Katz, an Ohio Department of Natural Resources public relations official, said decisions on the future of Paint Creek Reservoir are being delayed by funding problems, but Republican Sen. William Mussey, of Batavia, said that explanation is "just an excuse."

"They're putting a low priority on Southern Ohio parks," Sen. Mussey said referring to officials of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Division of Parks and Recreation.

The state senator said the low priority is the decision of William B. Nye, director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. "He's interested in Akron and Cleveland," Mussey said. "Southern Ohio is taking a beating."

Mussey was replying to a statement issued by Katz, who said he had no information concerning when a park manager and staff will be appointed for the new reservoir. Katz said the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers still plans to start filling the reservoir early in 1974 and he said it should be full by summer.

KATZ SAID decisions on staffing and operation of the new park will have to wait until after funding problems have been ironed out. He claimed the state legislature cut the department's budget requests and part of the money was for operation of new state parks such as Paint Creek.

He said the Department of Natural Resources is in the midst of a study of finances to determine how they can be juggled to make the best use of available funds.

"Our problem basically has been the environmentalists stopping our program. There really has been no demand for state money over here," Mussey said.

Mussey pointed out that the Department of Natural Resources "received all but $2 million they asked for in the budget, and they got a substantial increase in the budget."

"I think that's an excuse. They're building new parks elsewhere and they're finding money for those," Mussey said referring to comments by Katz.

Mussey said the Department of Natural Resources received a 35 per cent increase in its budget over the previous year. The final amount actually was more than the amount requested by Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan, the state senator said.

AUTHOR IS SPEAKER — Dr. Nicholas Georgiady addresses approximately 200 first, second, third and fourth graders at Jeffersonville Elementary School. He is the author of 101 children's books.

'Book Week' observed at Jeffersonville

JEFFERSONVILLE — It's one thing to have written 101 books for children, but to talk to a couple hundred first, second, third and fourth graders for a half hour and hold their attention is quite another!

Dr. Nicholas Georgiady did just that at the Jeffersonville Elementary School.

One of Dr. Georgiady's books, "Gertie the Duck," has attracted so much enthusiasm that its 800,000 copies have been printed in six different languages.

Dr. Georgiady's guest appearance in front of the youngsters helped kick off "National Book Week" by giving the children a chance to see and hear and question a real author.

Mrs. Glenn Estep and Mrs. Glenn Merritt, the two first grade teachers, explained that the children are being instructed in creative writing along with learning to read.

Principal Gordon McCarty believes the assembly with Dr. Georgiady provided the children with even more motivation towards creative writing and reading skills.

Productivity lag worries experts

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Near the top of the list in the bad news department is the nation's lagging productivity, or the time and cost involved in producing goods and services.

When the productivity rate declines, or rises more slowly than usual, it means that upward pressure is exerted on prices. And as everyone knows, the country has had enough of that.

In the year's third quarter, the productivity increase amounted to only 1.7 per cent, compared with a long-term average of about 2.7 per cent for the private, nonfarm economy.

Stated in another way, unit labor costs are rising. That is, it costs more to produce goods today than it did yesterday. So far this year, in fact, the increase has been 5.9 per cent, double last year's rate.

If improvement doesn't develop soon, the consequences could be a continuation, and conceivably a worsening, of inflation.

At this time of year many Americans sit down with paper and pencil to figure out the tab — that for Christmas gifts and that for Uncle Sam. In each case the payment can be delayed, but not the pain.

The pain of paying taxes is usually considered the more intense, especially by those who feel their burden is outrageous. Any attempt to convince them otherwise is a formidable challenge.

However, a set of figures just released by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development constitutes a challenge to the popular notion. Only seven of the 22 OECD countries, the figures show, have lower tax rates.

Including Social Security or its equivalent, the U.S. total tax revenue as a percentage of Gross National Product was only 27.77 per cent in 1971, compared with 43.99 per cent in Denmark, the most heavily taxed country.

The tab was only slightly lower in The Netherlands, at 42.20 per cent, in Sweden at 41.8, and in Norway at 41.53 per cent. Austria, the United Kingdom, France, Belgium, Finland, Germany and Luxembourg ranged between 34 and 37 per cent.

Canada's bite was 32.26 per cent, Ireland's 31.54 and Italy's 30.92.

Only Australia, Greece, Switzerland, Turkey, Portugal, Japan and Spain reported rates lower than the United States. The latter two had percentages of 20.06 and 20.02, respectively.

Youth program stresses 'why'

By JEANNIE ANDERSON
4-H Assistant

4-H programs are becoming concerned about the "why" of project work instead of just the "how". A few still don't agree that 4-H should dwell on "why", but consider this: The person who knows "how" will always have a job... because the person who knows "why" will hear him.

Getting people to want to learn new things isn't always easy. This is how an informal education program like 4-H teaches — by presenting the opportunity to learn the why's and how's by practice and repractice, and to question and discuss the context of 4-H projects.

One of these new projects that 4-Hers are learning about is the veterinary science program. It is designed to help boys and girls of both rural and urban areas to better understand animals.

It includes the improvement of animal health to safeguard our food supply, meat and poultry inspection, care of all food and pet animals as well as with diseases that directly affect man.

4-H members will learn about basic animal anatomy, physiology, sanitation, cause of disease and immunology. They will gain a greater understanding of their own personal health since the same medical principles apply. The project will provide exposure to important phases of medicine and public health, with possible career exploration.

THE POPULAR IMAGE of a veterinarian is that of a professional person who administers to the ills of pets, or treats the disease of farm animals, but really veterinarians have a much broader field to explore. It includes the improvement of animal health to safeguard food supplies and the improvement of human health.

It is in this way that our 4-H veterinary science project helps to deal with the study of the protection of human health and the promotion of human welfare by applying the arts and sciences of medicine to animals.

Boys and girls from 9 to 19 years of age living on farms, in towns and cities are eligible to participate. If you are interested in this project or being an adviser for this project, contact the County Extension Office at 335-1150.

Smoking by women surveyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women who work outside the home have a higher smoking rate than housewives, a new government study shows.

The study also reports that:

—On the basis of marital status among women, the smoking rate was highest for those divorced or separated, lowest for widows.

—On the basis of education among women, smoking rates were highest for those who ended their education with some high school classes or with a high school diploma, lowest for those whose education was grade school or less.

—Fewer women were smoking in 1970, compared to 1966, but the reduction was not as much as that for men.

The study is a report on changes in women's smoking behavior, based on national surveys directed by the Public Health Service in 1966 and 1970. The analysis was made by Dorothy E.

Green, a branch chief, and Daniel E. Nemzer, computer analyst, at the National Clearinghouse for Smoking and Health.

The smoking rate for U.S. adults, 21 years of age and over, fell from 42.2 per cent in 1966 to 36.2 per cent in 1970.

Among men, the smoking rate fell sharply, from 51.9 per cent to 42.3 per cent, the study reports. But for women, it fell only from 33.7 per cent to 30.5 per cent.

'We're walking on eggs' - Pfeifer

Mythical AP title removes sting of missing playoffs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The coaches of two Associated Press state poll champions see no extra pressure for their teams in the Ohio high school football playoffs.

"It gives our kids something to be proud about," said Joe Novak of Class AAA titleholder Warren Western Reserve.

"I don't feel we have any extra burden. It's a tremendous feeling," added J. D. Graham, who coaches Class A champion Newark Catholic.

Maurice Pfeifer, the coach of Class AA king Washington Court House, said his school's first AP title removed the sting of missing the playoffs.

"It's more than on paper to us. We're walking on eggs," said Pfeifer. "We're disappointed at not making the playoffs. That reflects our scheduling."

Western Reserve, now in its eighth season of football, won the state playoffs and finished second behind Massillon in the Class AAA ratings last fall.

The Raiders carry a 27-game winning streak into their state semifinal game with No. 5 Bowling Green at Akron Friday night.

Western Reserve finished with a 260-216 vote margin over runnerup Cincinnati Moeller in the balloting by a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Moeller, 10-0-0 like Western Reserve and Bowling Green, faces No. 3

Youngstown Mooney, 9-1-0, in its semifinal test at Cincinnati Friday night.

With ten straight triumphs, Washington Court House finished with its greatest record ever and owned a 212-181 margin over No. 2 Cincinnati Reading in Class AA.

Reading, meanwhile, puts its 10-0-0 record on the line against third-ranked Ironton and No. 6 Cleveland Benedictine faces No. 15 Lima Catholic in the Class AA semifinals.

Newark Catholic, 9-0-0, draws No. 13 Montpelier and No. 7 Middletown Fenwick plays No. 10 Ashtabula St. John in the Class A semifinals.

Newark Catholic collected 230 points to finish 72 points in front of runnerup Ada among the small school powers.

Washington Court House succeeds Columbus Watterson as the Class AA state poll champion. Newark Catholic takes over for Marion Pleasant, which had won the last two Class A crowns.

Chiefs bury Chicago deeper in NFC race

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The so-called "tired old men" of the Kansas City Chiefs aren't so tired and old after all. The Chicago Bears will vouch for that.

The Chiefs, with their entire offensive line intact for the first time this National Football League season, ground out 327 yards Monday night and their fired-up defense limited Chicago to 146 yards in a 19-7 victory over the Bears.

Kansas City's success in the nationally televised battle lifted the Chiefs into a tie with Oakland in the American Conference West Division with a 5-3-1 record and buried Chicago, 3-6, deeper in the National Conference Central Division cellar.

"First place?" echoed Chiefs' Coach Hank Stram. "That's what it's all about. It was a fantastic effort. Mike Livingston rose to the occasion again and did a terrific job. They were great kicks by Jan Stenerud, and the defense played another tough, well-coordinated game."

Livingston, replacing the injured Len Dawson for the second straight week, hit on 11 of 22 passes for 146 yards, including a 24-yard touchdown strike to Otis Taylor in the third quarter.

Stenerud chipped in with field goals of 47, 17, 43 and 42 yards, all in the first half, to give the Chiefs, who have won two in a row, a 12-0 advantage.

The Chiefs' defense dumped quarterback Bobby Douglass six times for losses totaling 64 yards. Three of the sacks were by Marvin Upshaw, who ganged up with Curly Culp to help make the night miserable for Douglass.

Douglass had two moments of success although one was short lived. He

Ohio pheasant future dim

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An upland game bird that becomes legal quarry Thursday is on the brink of extinction in Ohio.

Although pheasant populations are reported the same or slightly better than last year in some areas of the state, the overall downward trend in ringneck numbers has continued in the last 20 years.

There are two possibilities for a reversal of that trend: slim and none. For a pheasant comeback to occur there would have to be a dramatic improvement in cooperation between agricultural and wildlife interests.

The pheasant decline in Ohio is the result, not of overhunting, not of predators, not of severe winters, but changing farming practices.

A pessimistic report on field studies conducted by the Ohio Division of Wildlife over the past two decades states flatly:

"When all the available data from Ohio, as well as data from other pheasant ranges in the Midwest, are considered the conclusion is inescapable that recent changes in farming practices have been the primary cause for the reduction in pheasant populations."

There was a time when small, family-operated farms were plentiful. Farmlots were small and crops diversified. Fencerows, woodlots and drainage ditches provided safe haven and travel lanes for ringnecks to and from feeding stations.

In the days before heavy reliance on chemical fertilizers, crops of clover, alfalfa and other legumes were rotated to replenish the soil, bear seeds or provide green manure. Those crops afforded protection to the spring-nesting hens. Grain fields provided food.

Today the small farm has disappeared. In its place is the large farm, highly mechanized, efficiently operated. Gone are the fencerows, the nesting habitat and, to some extent, the

Bucks hold top spot in AP grid ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nebraska returned to the Top Ten and UCLA moved into eighth place but the seven top teams—led by No. 1 Ohio State—held on to their rankings Monday in the weekly Associated Press college football poll.

The No. 1-ranked Buckeyes of Ohio State, on the heels of Saturday's 35-0 trouncing of Michigan State, received 35 first-place votes and 1,130 points from the 61 sports writers and broadcasters

Woody won't look past winless Iowa

COLUMBUS (AP)—Woody Hayes said Monday complacency will be no problem for his top-ranked Ohio State football team when it plays winless Iowa this week.

"One advantage our team has is that it has a mean, old coach," Hayes said, looking ahead to the Big Ten clash Saturday between his 8-0 Buckeyes and the 0-9 Hawkeyes.

"WE PREPARE for each team each week. That's the only way you get better," said the dean of the Big Ten coaches, refusing to look ahead next week to Michigan.

Hayes acknowledged Michigan State did a good job of containing Cornelius Greene, Ohio State's slick-running quarterback in a 35-0 romp over the Spartans.

"If teams start coming at us and try to stick us," Hayes said, "watch us put the ball in the air—at least in warm-ups."

The 23-year Ohio State coach obviously was thinking of the Buckeyes' seldom used passing game. The Big Ten coleaders with Michigan have passed just 69 times in eight games while averaging 363 yards on the ground.

Ohio State already has established a one-season team rushing record with 2,907 yards with two games remaining. Tailback Archie Griffin is the ringleader with 1,019 yards.

Hayes has mixed emotions about his sophomore sensation, already the greatest rushing halfback in the schools' history.

"I'd like to see him get more yardage," Hayes said. "But if I see him out there writhing in pain with an injury, the old coach would have to say, 'Hayes, you're not very smart.' Arch understands that."

"Our line has to be an enormous factor in our success this year," the

Specialists

aid Bucks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State leads the nation in fewest points permitted, has an offense averaging 417 yards and Woody Hayes talks about his Buckeye specialists.

"Our kicking game is ahead of other teams because it's a veteran one," the veteran Ohio State mentor told writers Monday during his weekly press conference.

"The thing we have to worry about is complacency," Hayes added. "And one advantage our team has is its mean, old coach."

The unbeaten Buckeyes, sharing the Big Ten lead with Michigan, have returned 40 punts for 558 yards. The opposition has 10 returns for just 21 yards.

"Neal Colzie had almost nine times as many punt return yards in one game as our opponents have all season," said Hayes.

Colzie, a junior defensive back from Coral Gables, Fla., piled up 170 yards with eight punt returns during a 35-0 rout of Michigan State Saturday. One went for a 43-yard touchdown, his fourth of the season.

coach continued. "They are opening up big holes in that line."

HAYES ALSO was pleased with a third straight shutout and said, "Our defense has been consistently good. But will all of those great players on defense, one man (All-American linebacker Randy Gradishar) is 30 tackles ahead of everybody."

Defensive end Jim Cope, however, was named the team's top defensive player against Michigan State. The 228-pound junior was in on 13 tackles, sacked the quarterback three times and threw one runner for a loss.

Defensive back Neal Colzie was credited with the Play of the Week on a 20 yard punt return.

On offense, All-America tackle John Hicks was the top lineman and Griffin the No. 1 back.

Bengals fear Namath comeback

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Bengals, fearing another Joe Namath comeback, are working to get as many veterans as possible back into the lineup for the game here Sunday with the New York Jets.

"I remember the last time we played them," said Coach Paul Brown, "two years ago in New York, the last game of the season."

"We were the team that Joe 'came back' against that time too, and they beat us."

"Our job this week," said trainer Mary Pollins, "is to get some people back ready to play."

The list includes rookie tight end Al Chandler, veteran receiver Chip Myers and safety Tommy Casanova.

Brown said he was breathing hard until the Bengals were able to pull out last Sunday's victory over the Buffalo Bills 16-13 with a last second field goal by Horst Muhlmann.

HOPEFULLY A GUSHER — This could easily be mistaken for an oil well under the cloud-laden skies of Oklahoma. Actually it's near New Holland.

TOOL DRESSER — Paul E. Bennington, an employee of the Huffman-Bowers Drilling Co., is shown heating the drill bit in a small furnace in order to redress the tip so it can be put back to work.

New Holland area explored for oil

By MARK THELMANN

NEW HOLLAND — Boom-twist, boom-twist, boom-twist! No, it's not a new dance, unless you consider what the huge Huffman-Bowers drill bit is doing as it pounds and turns into the bowels of the earth as dancing.

That black, gooey, but oh-so precious substance is being sought on farmland owned by Bob Rowland off Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, a mile and a half north of here.

Victor Carlson, geologist for the small independent organization known as the Ephraim Petroleum Co. is the man behind the drilling. He has hired the Huffman-Bowers Drilling Co. out of New Lexington to drill down into the earth in hopes of finding oil.

Rodger V. Bowers, owner of the Huffman-Bowers firm explains, "Although our average drilling depth per minute is 32-48 feet, it all depends on what's down there. Right now, there's a lot of limestone and we're presently at 600 feet."

BOWERS FEELS the project will continue to a depth of 2,200 feet before failure would be admitted.

"If we don't strike something by then, it'll probably be time to find a new location," he said.

Asked about the big carbon steel, or alloy steel drill bits, Bowers said, "We keep eight bits on hand. We haven't had any break so far, but they do have to be re-dressed after every 60-100 feet. The points get pretty flat after working down that far."

Re-dressing entails heating the bit in a little furnace and then re-shaping the point on the end.

ROWLAND whose home is on Glaze Road, explained how the Ohio Department of Natural Resources strictly supervises drilling operations for oil and natural gas.

"A farmer leases his land for a dollar an acre per year to the drilling company," he said, "and if oil or gas is found, the farmer gets 12.5 per cent of the profit."

Rowland cited an unfortunate incident which occurred 12-15 years ago when state supervision wasn't so strict.

"A drilling company hit oil somewhere in Morrow County and because it was in cavities, the drilling opened up new channels for the oil to flow through and many streams became polluted."

Skilled workers at Ford reportedly reject contract

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers tentative contract agreement with Ford Motor Co. is in doubt following reports the pact was rejected by the automaker's skilled trades workers.

Sources close to the union said Monday that Ford's 25,000 tradesmen voted by a 3-1 margin against ratifying the pact, negotiated Oct. 26. They said the over-all vote, including maintenance and production workers, is very close, and could go either way.

The union originally said it would disclose results of the voting Monday, but has postponed its announcement until Wednesday. A union spokesman said ratification ballots are still being counted.

The status of the three-year contract package, covering 185,000 Ford workers, could hinge on an amendment to the UAW constitution.

The document was amended in 1966 with a provision stating that no national contract could be concluded unless a majority of the union's skilled tradesmen votes for it.

UAW president Leonard Woodcock said last week the amendment refers only to the contract's application to skilled trades workers and not to pro-

DRILLING for oil and gas in this area of Ohio isn't a new thing, Rowland points out.

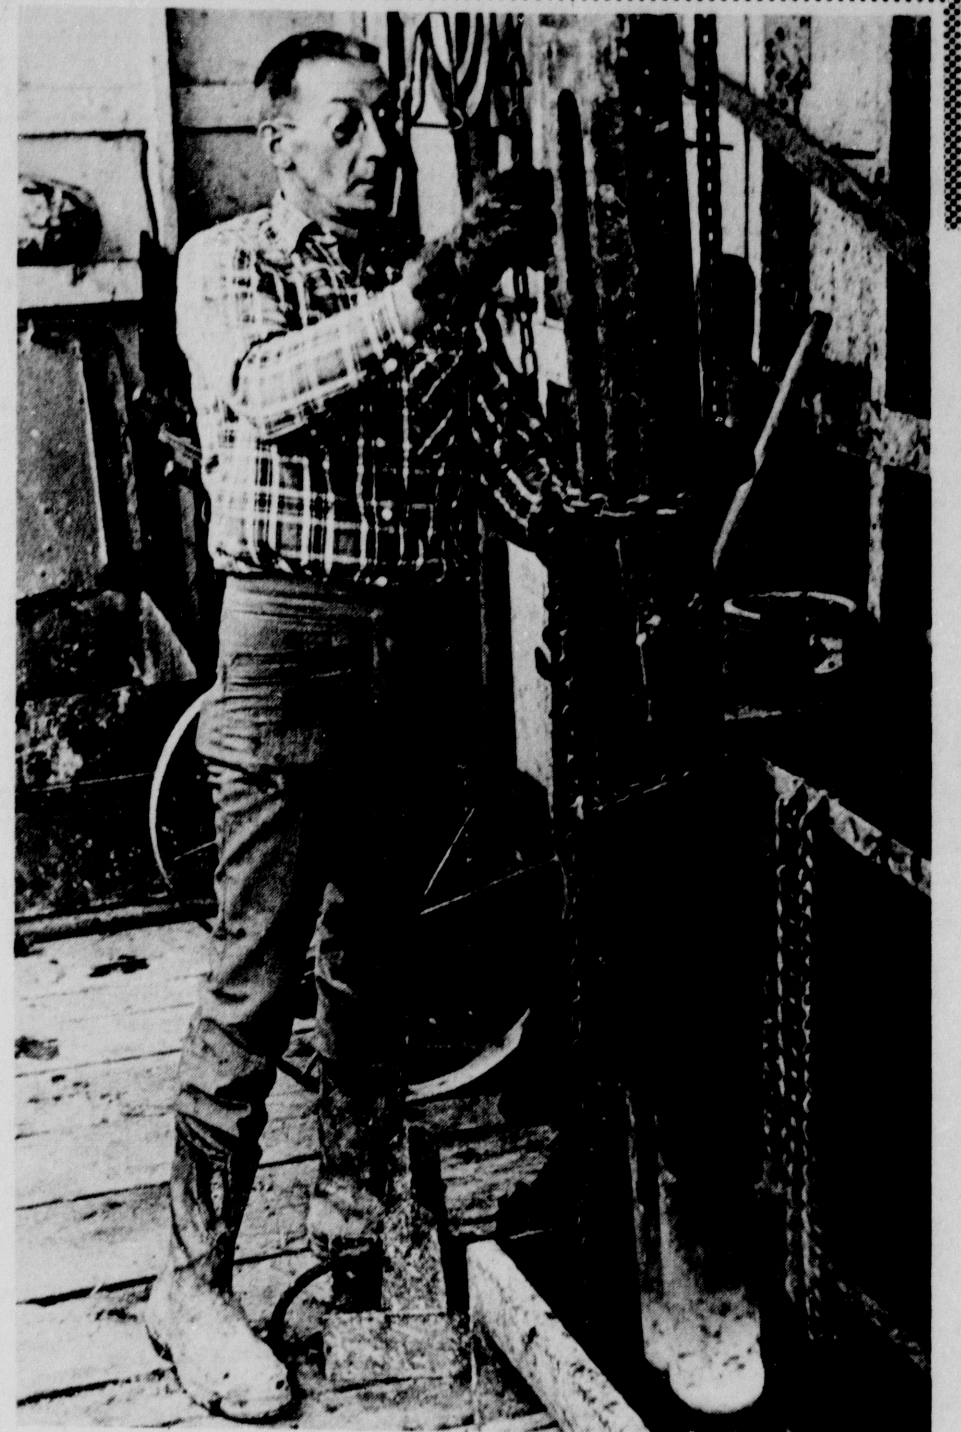

"Fifteen years ago, there was a lot of drilling going on. There were six wells drilled in Fayette County, two in Ross County and three in Pickaway County. One of the wells in Pickaway County produced for awhile, but salt water entered and closed it up."

According to G. Lyman Dawe, oil and gas division director for the Department of Natural Resources, oil drilling in Ohio is up a full 50 per cent over last year's figures. This is directly related to the energy shortage.

If the current drilling trend continues, maybe "boom-twist" will become a new dance.

DOWN SHE GOES — Huffman-Bowers Drilling Co. employee Glenn Worden is shown putting the round peg into the round hole — another drill bit ready to go, into the earth far below.

COOLING A BIT — Owner of the Huffman-Bowers Drilling Co., Rodger V. Bowers, secures chains holding a re-dressed drill bit over a water trough which will cool down the heated tip.

Timken gains election to Ohio GOP committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — W. R. Timken Jr. of Canton was elected Monday chairman of the Ohio Republican Finance Committee. The vice chairman of the board of the Timken Co. will head GOP fund-raising efforts in Ohio in 1974 and 1975. Timken replaces T. Spencer Shore of Cincinnati, who had been fund raising chairman since March 1971.

A major breakthrough in no-wax floors...

SOLARIAN® by Armstrong

Armstrong has never promised you a no-wax floor... until now. Solarian is a floor that really does shine without wax. Its exclusive Mirabond wear surface has a gleaming shine of its own. And it keeps its high gloss and beautiful colors—without waxing—far longer than an ordinary vinyl floor. Spills, dirt, even black heel marks come up easily, ending the drudgery of scrubbing and waxing. Come in and see the no-wax floor that keeps its promise.

Social service programs funded 6 more weeks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thirteen social service programs, scheduled to be phased out, received an additional six weeks funding Monday by the state Controlling Board.

Charles W. Bates, director of the Ohio Department of Public Welfare, said the money would permit state agencies to "efficiently restructure their operations and phase out the programs" by Dec. 30.

The funds included $19,812 in state day care monies and $654,518 in federal monies, Bates said.

The agencies involved included the Buckeye Hills Hocking Valley Regional Development Commission; Clermont Mental Health Center; East Cleveland Board of Education; Ohio Valley Regional Development Commission and Sinclair Community College.

Ontario's freshwater shoreline on the Great Lakes extends 2,362 miles.

Opening lead - queen of diamonds.

Wherever you go in bridge circles, whether the caliber of play is good, bad or indifferent, the one factor that stands out a mile is that more points are lost on the easy hands than on the tough ones.

Undoubtedly the reason is that difficult hands are much more rare, but this merely points up the importance of dealing precisely and advantageously with the everyday garden variety of hands normally dealt.

For example, consider the bidding in this hands. North has no real choice but to bid a spade, nor is there any question about his rebid in spades.

South's two club bid is also clear-cut, and so is his jump to three notrump. Yet, what happens quite often in such deals is that one player or the other, for reasons unknown, goes off on tangent and steers the partnership into the wrong contract.

When it comes to the play there is an even greater chance of deviation from the norm. Assume a diamond lead won with the ace. What should declarer do next?

I can testify first-hand that many players in this situation promptly take a spade finesse. For this they are duly punished when East wins with the king and returns a diamond, closing the door to the contract.

These impetuous declarers fail to observe that, by entering dummy with a heart at trick two and taking a club finesse at trick three, they are assuring the contract beyond the shadow of a doubt. The reason they fail is because the lead happens to be in their own hand at trick one and they find it simpler and more convenient to try a spade finesse at once than cross to dummy for a club finesse.

They're just plain lazy, that's all.

Big Breasts Embarrass Girl

My 18-year-old daughter is embarrassed by the enormous size of her breasts.

She has begun to inquire about plastic surgery. How safe is the operation?

Mrs. G.B., Ga.

Dear Mrs. B.:

The reduction of the size of the breasts is really not considered to be totally in the province of plastic surgery. Many general surgeons, specially trained in the techniques of breast surgery, perform this type of operation. The operation is completely safe and does not, by its nature, carry any special risks.

The embarrassment that pendulous breasts so often cause teenagers and young adults can create psychological scars that cannot be casually overlooked. Many young women withdraw from school functions and social activities because of their constant awareness of the conspicuous size of their breasts.

There are many techniques by which the breast can be surgically made smaller. The choice of the operation, of course, depends entirely on the surgeon.

The scars that are left are often barely perceptible. The concern that most mothers and daughters feel is about the possible effect of such an operation on child-bearing and breast-feeding. Your doctor will give you the added assurance that surgery does not affect these functions.

Your daughter will benefit markedly, both in her physical appearance and from the psychological advantages that accrue.

If you are giving serious thought to the operation, don't waste too much time. The delay simply reinforces the emotional burden your daughter is carrying.

Are there any medicines that can be put on the fingernails of children who bit their nails?

Mrs. W.W., Mich.

Dear Mrs. W.:

Yes, there are bad-tasting medicines that are applied to the nails of children by parents who have no real understanding of the problem. It is exceedingly unwise to use this method of breaking children of the habit of nail-biting.

Psychologists and pediatricians believe that this habit reflects inner tensions and anxieties. It may be the result of jealousy, sibling rivalry (competition with a sister or brother) or too rigid standards of behavior.

The real cause of the nailbiting must be determined and removed. The only thing worse than the use of bad-tasting medicine is to shame the child and embarrass him in an effort to cure him.

Understanding, patience, and help, not punishment, are the best treatments for nail-biting.

In Focus

by Charlie Pensyl

Again this week there was a man in the shop with a big photographic problem. Seems like his slides were OK but they surely weren't up to those he saw in a slide show at some Kiwanis Club meeting recently. Then came the classic question: "What kind of a camera do I have to buy to get that kind of results?"

Well, he had some of his slides with him. They were pretty bad color-wise, but the composition was great and his ideas were fresh. The problem boiled down to lousy processing. He had saved himself a few cents and goofed up some otherwise great pix. This guy didn't need a new camera, he didn't need lessons in composition, in fact all he needed is to have someone point out to him that you can't get good color with this bargain-basement processing.

I know, you've heard it before, but it's the truth and it bears repeating: the people who manufacture the film should be allowed to process the product they have made. They have the know-how, they have the incentive.

Home movies? Yes, this is the year for home movies, and you can bet there will be more movie cameras given this Christmas than ever before. The reason is simple: people have caught on to the fact that with the new cameras you can shoot up a storm without movie lights. Just the natural room light is all that is necessary. Natural - that is the key word; no squinting, no posing, the results are natural. Think about it for your family this Christmas.

Kennel Club 'graduation' rites held

A number of spectators attended graduation ceremonies at the Fine Arts Building in the Fairground Monday evening as 16 dogs received diplomas for successful completion of the Paint Valley Kennel Club's obedience school. Nick Nichols of the Columbus All-breed Training Club judged the graduating class, and trophies were awarded to the four highest finishers.

"Dusty," a Keeshond owned by Mrs. Vicki Snow, Sabina, captured the top prize while the Martin family, of Old Chillicothe Rd., took home second and fourth places.

Collies "Duke" and "Duchess" owned by teen-aged Scott and Jennifer Martin, respectively, placed in the top four. "Duke" was second while "Duchess" captured the fourth place trophy.

A miniature Schnauzer named "Baron" was third. He is owned by Robert Russell, Mount Sterling. Each graduate was given a bag of home-made dog cookies, created by Mrs. Elmer Haymaker, who was the course instructor. Assisting Mrs. Haymaker, Devalon Rd., throughout the ten-week program was Mrs. Robert Burnett, Prairie Road.

The next event on the Paint Valley Kennel Club calendar is a dinner at Anderson's Restaurant Dec. 6, beginning at 7:30 p.m. A "doggie-gift" exchange will be held during the dinner.

Members and their guests are welcome to attend, as are persons who join the club prior to that date. Further information is available from Robert Schneider, club president, at 335-6676.

Skyscrapers said energy 'monsters'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—One of the hungriest maws in the current fuel shortage is that of the average glass and steel skyscraper, often built without regard for energy consumption, according to Cleveland architects.

Heat escapes through the glass during the winter, and sunny days compete with cooling systems during the summer.

"Those buildings are real monsters as far as energy is concerned," says Fred Toguchi, who favors research on the subject.

"Building costs have been going up so dramatically you have to battle to keep things within a reasonable budget," he said. "This puts less emphasis on long range operating costs."

Architect William A. Gould traveled to England recently to study energy conservation there for the American Institute of Architects. He said the British are considering assigning energy consumption levels to buildings before construction begins.

Similar national standards here would force architects to design buildings with energy in mind, he noted.

In the past, buildings "were designed to go along with nature," architect Peter van Dijk said. "Now they're fighting nature."
